Compulsory Military Training Due for 18-19 Year Olds?

Armed Forces Have Plan To Be Submitted

Non-Overseas Duty For Youths Ended

Washington, Aug. 10 (AP)—A Defense Department spokesman told senators today that a new proposal for universal military training of youths should reach congress soon.

Rear Admiral H. A. Houser, who represents the Defense Department on legislation, gave that information to the senate armed services committee.

For 18-19 Year Olds
Chairman Tydings (D-Md) had told his committee that he understood a vast training program, probably applying to all youths 18 and 19 years old, now was under study.

Tydings asked a group of uniformed army, navy and air force officers, present for the committee session, if this were true.

Admiral Houser said a new UMT plan is "receiving intensive study of the department of defense" and should reach congress soon. He gave no details.

Tydings remarked that additional methods, beyond the present draft act and calls to duty for some National Guard and reserve groups, probably must be found to provide the manpower needed by the army, air force, navy and marines.

Insurance at Schools To Be Up to Pupils

Optional insurance covering high school and elementary school pupils was renewed Wednesday night by the board of education of school district 170.

Rates for grade-schoolers are 30c and 15c with the higher premium covering children not only while they are engaged in school activities but while they are traveling to and from classrooms.

Rates for high school students are 50c and 65c. The insurance provides benefits in cases of injuries.

The board also set the rental fee for 19 textbooks at one-third the list price. List prices range from $144 to $230.

In its other activities, the board purchased a $120 mimeograph machine and authorized the construction of a steel frame for a press box at the football field. The estimated cost was $256.

Conservation Exhibit Comes To Fete Here

The Illinois Department of Conservation educational wildlife exhibits, which will be shown throughout the State, have been assigned their 1950 schedules. One of these exhibits will be a free feature attraction at the Injun Summer Celebration here Aug. 2 through Aug. 24, 1950.

Leonard Schwartz, director of the State Department of Conservation, has announced that the exhibits have been revamped and are designed to show the latest wildlife displays at county fairs, festivals and expositions. The exhibits are under the direction of William P. Moloney, head of the Division of Education.

In a tent 40 by 50 feet in size, located on a 60 by 70 foot area, will be exhibited live fur-bearing animals, all native to Illinois. These animals will include raccoon, fox, mink, badger, porcupine, groundhog and a prairie wolf. Live game birds, including quail, Canada geese, horned owl and many species of migratory ducks commonly known to the Illinois sportsman also will be shown.

In addition to live animals, there will be attractive transilluminated color photos and an exhibit of wood products, and various woods cut from Illinois timber. This part of the display will be pre-

William Wasn't Staying in Rut

Wonder Lake, Ill., Aug. 10 (AP)—"William Jones Mary" has long been carved on the family tree of the William Smiths.

For three generations a William Smith has married a girl named Mary.

William Smith III and his wife, Mary, confidently expected William IV would carry on the family tradition.

But William IV was married last week to a girl named Norma.

Town House Has 'Grand Opening' Here Tomorrow

The "Town House"—popular Dixon eating place—will have a grand opening tomorrow (Friday) at its new location on Galena avenue.

Located in the building formerly occupied by Mitchell's Restaurant, the "Town House" has been re-decorated and built over into an attractive restaurant. It has comfortable booths and tables, and the decorations are novel and restful.

Cal and Maxine Arnold, under whose management the "Town House" operates, announced today that the establishment will be open from Monday to Saturday, 11:00 a.m. until midnight. It will be closed Sundays.

Truman was asked what he thinks of the tactics of Malik and the Russian delegation.

He said he wasn't interested in other tactics but was highly pleased with the performance of the United States and British delegation.

"Do you think an east-west meeting now would do any good?" one reporter wanted to know.

Working for Peace
Replying by indirection, Truman said the United Nations is working for a peaceful settlement.

Still, he said he favors doing anything that would contribute to peace.

Political Donations
The matter of six-figure contributions to the 1948 gubernatorial campaign of Governor Fuller Warren of Florida also came in for further airing at the hearing.

At previous sessions the committee heard testimony that three men gave $154,000 each.

William H. Johnston, who heads the club which operates Sportsman Park at Chicago and four dog tracks in Florida, said his contribution was around $100,000, including some $50,000 from his brother and two others.

George K. McClellan, who has been in the city since he was a boy, said he had contributed $100,000 to the campaign.

But if the city council gives its support to the plan, promising to cooperate with the housing authority and to give utilities to the units, the county board can be forced to accept five per cent of the rentals in lieu of taxes.

Tipsey Driver Is Fined $100. Loses Permit to Drive

William E. Higgins, 21 Sterling, was fined $100 and costs Wednesday by County Judge Grover W. Genant after he pleaded guilty to drunken driving. Higgins also lost his license for a year.

Judge Genant followed the recommendation of Assistant State's Attorney George Nichols and placed Higgins on probation for a year.

Higgins was arrested early Wednesday morning by Officers Glen Camery, Jr., and Ray Wilson after his car tore out a lamp post at Third street and Artesian place. He was treated at RSB hospital for minor injuries.

Expect Floor Fight Over Marshall Plan

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 10 (AP)—Floor fights over Marshall Plan policy and University of Illinois trustee choices may develop tomorrow at the Republican state convention.

Committee recommendations were reported opposed today by delegates flatly against Marshall Plan spending and by those insisting at least one trustee nominee should be from far outside the Chicago area.

Expect Large Crowd
About 3,000 Republicans are expected to attend late afternoon and evening session of the one-day convention. It will kick off the fall campaign for the Illinois GOP ticket.

Some GOP leaders are reported determined to sharpen up a tentative platform plank which they regard as too mild in its criticism of Marshall Plan foreign aid as handled by President Truman and the Democrats.

Tied to the dispute is the fall campaign of Everett M. Dirksen of Pekin, former congressman. He is trying to unseat Democratic Senator Scott W. Lucas of Havana. Dirksen voted for the Marshall Plan when he was in congress several years ago. But for the last year he has been going up and down the state, denouncing it as a waste of money.

Dirksen will address the convention at 8 p.m. (CDT).

He helped write the tentative platform draft, completed yesterday in Chicago by a committee and withheld from publication until late tomorrow. He hasn't said yet whether he wants any changes in the tentative draft.

Woman Keynote
Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, state representative from Downers Grove, will give the convention's keynote address. She has been extremely uncompromising in her opposition to Truman Democratic policies—both domestic and foreign.

The convention will nominate three party choices for University of Illinois trustee jobs. The nominees will oppose Democratic nominees in the Nov. 7 election.

Both parties usually nominate without dispute the slates presented by their respective committees, each composed of university alumni.

The GOP slate this year calls for three alumni from near Chicago. They are Chester Davis of Wayne, a lawyer and former trustee, Wayne A. Johnston of Flossmoor, president of the Illinois Central railroad, and Herbert B. Morgan of Harvard, a farm implement dealer.

Davis Has Opposition
Opposition is reported forming against Davis because he is a former trustee. The opponents are said to want a new face and someone from southern or central Illinois.

A Champaign-Urbana group is reported backing Harold (Red) Grange, famous Illinois haliback of 25 years ago, for trustee. He lives in Chicago.

Grange is a radio commentator.

A BROTHER OR SISTER?—London, Aug. 10 (AP)—An air of expectancy hung today over Clarence House, pleasant, four-story home where Princess Elizabeth awaits the birth of her second child. A Buckingham Palace spokesman said events were progressing normally "and we shall not have long to wait."

Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret visited Princess Elizabeth yesterday, and the king and queen are remaining in London. Word from Clarence House was that Princess Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip, "hope it will be a girl."

Probers Seek Chicago Bookie Tied in With Florida Rackets

Washington, Aug. 10 (AP)—The senate crime investigating committee is on the trail of a Chicago bookie it suspects may have moved in on the lush Florida gambling field.

The missing witness is Harry Russell, identified by the committee as a Chicago gambling operator who became a member of the highly profitable S. and G. Horse Book Syndicate in Miami Beach.

Russell's name figured prominently in testimony at the committee's hearing yesterday when other members of the syndicate gave their version of how the Chicagoan came in for a one-sixth interest for $20,000.

The committee has tried for three months to locate Russell. "We have some new leads on him," Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn.) told reporters, "and we'll get him sooner or later."

Deny 'Misleading'
S. and G. Syndicate members, Jules Levitt, Leo Levitt, Harold Salvey and Edward Rosenbaum, and their attorney Ben Cohen, testified yesterday.

Questioned by committee members, they denied that Russell had misused into the syndicate. Their account was that they thought Russell was going to try to take over some of their bookie spots and to prevent this they took him in. Also, they said, he knew how to operate gambling on baseball.

There was no connection, they said, between the fact that Russell was taken into the syndicate and the fact that he was having trouble getting his race wire service a service reportedly controlled by Chicago.

Two months ago, the Lee county board of supervisors voted against the program for Dixon, an 80-unit, million-dollar plan in effect, the board refused to vote for a housing survey of Lee county. Before that, the board voted against accepting 10 per cent of the project's rentals in lieu of taxes.

Gains Biggest In Single Day For Americans

B-29 Bombers Raise Havoc on Rail Center

Tokyo, Friday, Aug. 11 (AP)—U. S. troops yesterday drove 13 miles almost to the outskirts of Chinju and snugged shut behind them an armored trap on possibly 1,000 enemy troops.

It was the biggest single day's gain of the war for American forces.

As Chinju, major enemy base in South Korea, tottered, North Koreans at the other end of the 110-mile front rolled to within eight miles of a U. S. east coast fighter base before being halted.

General MacArthur's war summary said South Koreans checked the enemy drive eight miles west of Pohang. The fighter base is near this city 63 miles north of the port of Pusan.

Pressure On Taegu
The enemy also loosed new attacks along the northern front, putting renewed pressure on the important supply city of Taegu, 55 miles northwest of Pusan.

They were advancing against resisting South Koreans on a front about 30 miles north of Taegu. The enemy still held a Nakdong river bridgehead 29 miles south-west of Taegu against fierce American attacks. Another bridgehead 12 miles northwest of Taegu was reported wiped out.

U. S. Eighth Army leaders took hasty steps to protect the fighter plane base. It is eight miles southeast of Pohang on the Sea of Japan 55 miles north of Pusan.

Two Red forces rolled back crumbling South Korean troops there. AP correspondent Hal Boyle at Pohang said the Reds were protected from American naval guns by lofty mountains in some of Korea's most rugged country.

Yongdok Recaptured
The Pohang-bound Communists hammered down from Yongdok which they retook Thursday, and drove four miles to the south.

The main threat to the fighter base came from another Red force rolling toward it from the mountain village of Kurye, eight miles northwest of Pohang. A North Korean patrol of 30 men commanded the Yongchon—Pohang supply road with machine guns.

Four U. S. Mustang fighters were shot down by ground fire after taking off to machinegun the invaders. One pilot was lost and three were rescued, Boyle reported.

Twenty-nine miles southwest of Taegu, the main U. S. base on the central front, a battalion of Reds held off elements of the U. S. 24th and Second divisions on the banks of the Nakdong river.

American planes, including 70 B-29s from Japan and Omawa, plastered the North Koreans. The air force said the B-29s badly crippled northern rail lines with the biggest raid of the war on Wonsan, east coast rail center north of the 38th parallel. The big planes caught the 25 track-wide rail yard jammed with traffic, ammunition, fuel, food and other supplies went up in a gigantic fire.

The U. S. 8th Army headquarters in a communique at 9:45 p. m. (5:45 a. m. CST) Thursday said United Nations troops battled aggressively on all fronts to expand gains in the south.

Reds Dig In
Elements of the 24th division tried to dislodge river-crossing Communists dug in southwest of Taegu but were unsuccessful.

Chicago's 'Man of Many Headaches' Fights Criminals, and Even Law Officials. Public!

By JACK HARR

Chicago. Former FBI Agent Virgil Peterson probably has more headaches than any other man in Chicago.

In his unique position as director of the Chicago Crime Commission, he frequently finds himself at odds with not only criminals, but law enforcement officials, politicians, and even the general public as well.

Peterson is sort of a super trouble-shooter, functioning as the leader of a civilian group working to reduce crime, improve laws, and improve law enforcement. His commission is the watchdog of Chicago's criminal procedures. It is the self-imposed conscience of the public.

The Chicago Crime Commission is supported entirely by public subscription, and has no official authority. It can only suggest, probe, and prod. It was formed by the Chicago Association of Commerce in 1919 during the crime upsurge after the first world war. Following Chicago's lead, prominent citizens in many other major cities have instituted similar organizations.

An Iowan and an alumnus of Parsons College in his home state, Peterson graduated from Northwestern University's law school and worked with the FBI for 12 years before taking over at the Chicago Crime Commission in 1952.

His work received national attention when he was called to testify before the Senate crime investigating committee earlier this summer. The slim, graying, 46-year-old crime veteran described the set-up of nation-wide crime syndicates for seven hours to the Kefauver committee.

Peterson thinks that the work of the committee may reduce crime considerably, but he firmly believes any real solution will have to come on a local level.

"This is because corruption of local politicians is an absolute must for the existence of organized crime," he says. "And this corruption inevitably seeps down to many law enforcement officials."

Political corruption and public anarchy are the two chief bugaboos Peterson is fighting. As long as people are indifferent about the existence of handbooks and refuse to think much about prostitution and the "rackets," big-time crime will run rampant, he believes, adding: "These activities provide the bulk of the underworld's 'easy money.'"

In the face of these two factors, Peterson and his crew of trained investigators, most of them with FBI experience, are handicapped. Whenever they detect a violation of the law or a dereliction of duty by government or police officials, they can only report it to city authorities.

It is up to the city then and any permanent action is a rarity.

In one sensational case this summer, the commission's work received wide attention when it released a report criticizing law enforcement in Chicago's 30th police district. The Grand Jury took notice and launched an investigation.

VIRGIL PETERSON: "Corruption... is an absolute must for... crime."

Hollywood — (NEA) — Producers who have been building Free Astaire for the rights to his life story can relax. MGM is practically doing his biography in "A Royal Wedding." Inside on the story line is that it concerns a brother-and-sister dance team who go to London and become an overwhelming success. The sister wears a titled Englishman. Jane Powell plays the Adele Astaire sister role.

Jane will surprise a lot of people in the part. I got an official peek at the new hip-swinging Jane, strutting right along with Fred in a dance number, and it looks like Metro's hatched out another threat to Betty Grable.

No coloratura arias for Jane's new alluring character. She's singing in a low-pitched voice that is enough like Judy Garland's to set Hollywood on its ear. "My vocal coach is a tough," she whispered. "They don't like sexy singing."

Helen Deutsch, MGM's golden girl in the screen writing league, is denying that she's about to rush to the altar with Manhattan attorney Ausim M. Fisher. She says:

"They're pushing me into it with rumors. Everybody is nuts about him. If I don't marry him, they'll say I'm a heel!"

DILEMMA

George Montgomery may have to ride this away and that away at the same time. He's in a neck of a pickle over two western films slated to be filmed at the same time. . . . Confession from Don Hartman, who says the first "Road" movie at Paramount was written for Jack Oakie and Fred MacMurray. Oakie gained too much weight," says Don MacMurray got busy in another show and the script was tossed to Hope and Crosby.

"Oh, that doesn't matter," laughed Mrs. Hogan. "I've always wanted Ben to be tall, and this is his chance."

Travelogue of a Publisher
By Mrs. Mabel S. Shaw

(Editor's Note: Mrs. Mabel S. Shaw, publisher of the Evening Telegraph, Mr. and Mrs. Ben T. Shaw and Mrs. H. U. Bardwell, all of Dixon, are on a motor trip through the south, southwest and Mexico, and herewith is published a letter Mrs. M. S. Shaw has written to other members of her family:

My Dear Family:

We looked forward to our visit to Houston, Texas, and liked the place. It is an amazing city, an industrial center in a cattle country and the oil capitol of the U. S. Immense shipping facilities. Their port is said to be the third largest in this country.

We were impressed to find so many skyscrapers, all so beautiful and substantial in appearance, and lovely shops. The streets were fairly crowded with people and although it was very warm, the shoppers were out in full force. Texas cities have great territory, good shopping centers being so far apart.

Many Fine Homes

Houston has many fine homes, built by multi-millionaire oil magnates and these men have done much to beautify their home city. They not only think of business, there is much on the cultural side. Two fine universities open the way for higher education and a symphony orchestra of note attracts music lovers from all over the vast "Lone Star State." Houston has the spirit to dare and to do.

About the latest project here is the stupendous new hotel that has been built approximately three miles out from the main business district. I would say it is 16 or 18 stories high and is the achievement of one man Mr. McCarthy, 46 years old, who lives in the hotel with his wife and children. He is an Irishman, and a fine looking one judging from the portrait of the gentleman hanging in the lobby of the Shamrock.

Me, on my writing with your purse as your desk and going 70 miles an hour isn't so easy and I wonder if you can decipher my letters. Just skip what you find difficult.

Ben T. and Ella take turns driving the car. Given and I are the lazy ones and it's great to be that way once in a while.

The Shamrock Hotel

To continue with Mr. McCarthy's Shamrock hotel. The minute we stepped from the blistering heat through the glass doors into the air-cooled lobby we were intrigued with the general appearance. It was spacious and comfortable with many pieces of overstuffed furniture. It was gay in color, all very bright and very modernistic. The entire hotel was in this style. For instance, one of the bedrooms had hangings from ceiling to floor of the most beautiful texture and shade of red. The bedspreads and tufted headboard were a lovely charcoal satin weave. The lamps were stunning with cream shades draped in black. Furniture of the finest woods, with a satin finish. The appointments were luxurious and impressive. For instance, the radio in each room was hidden in the wall and indicated only by a small flat brass plate. I thought how nice that would be in anyone's house for there is nothing pretty about a radio and in cabinet size they take up too much floor space.

Every room in the Shamrock is air-conditioned. The Emerald room is where you dine and dance. I asked one of the staff the seating capacity and he said 1,500. I think he overestimated. However, it seemed huge and was filled with guests from all over the world. One is awed by the amazing greatness of the place. There are various rooms for luncheons and for night clubs too and beside the Shamrock pool is a lovely outdoor canopied terrace where you can have luncheon in your bathing togs. One can find all the entertainment desired without leaving the 15 acres of grounds. There are garden walks and many flowers to enjoy. If you go by car you can garage your car though you are number 1,000, for that is what the garage holds. The table mats and the menus all carry the Shamrock leaf motif. The hotel's stationary likewise is green with the same decoration, and why not? Mr. McCarthy is Irish and proud of it.

At the time of the opening of the Shamrock a few months ago it is likely that no hotel ever received the publicity this one did. Life magazine gave it a tremendous sendoff. Movie people took possession. It was a wild night, not soon forgotten by Shamrock guests. Dixon's own Louella Parsons was one of the many famous and world renowned persons present.

We are moving on to Laredo, Tex., on the Mexican border. The drive has been very comfortable. At Laredo we will make declarations before entering Mexico. We expect to spend two days in Monterrey, Mexico, before going on to Mexico City.

Am feeling rested. Much love.

Mother

FROM THE GOP

Mr. B. A. Griffiths
City Editor
Evening Telegraph
Dixon, Illinois

Dear Mr. Griffiths:

Your splendid cooperation on our visit to Dixon is much appreciated.

The School of Politics program undertaken by Mr. Gabrielson, Republican National Chairman, is intended to alert the American people to their duty to vote. We have sufficient confidence in the average citizen to know if he votes, he will vote Republican.

I hope that you have had the opportunity to send copies of the Telegraph to Mr. Gabrielson at National Headquarters, 1337 Connecticut Ave., N.W., Washington, D. C.

Sincere regards,

By Westbrook Pegler
The impudence of some CIO leaders is galling to Pegler.

New York, Aug. 10.—The bewildered general public has shown no resistance to the impudent proposition that Philip Murray, the president of the C. I. O., James E. Carey, the Secretary, Mike Quill, president of the Transport Workers, and Joe Curran, president of the Maritime union, both of the C. I. O., now are stout enemies of Communism and the Communists. The public is head-weary and for many years has lagged several innings behind the running story of a desperate game. So, when the propaganda comes out that Murray, Curran and Quill, all notorious collaborators of the traitor movement in times past, now are thoroughly reliable in positions of terrible power over the lives of Americans who never did waver, the people need enlightenment from those who know.

I expect Carey from the charge of actual collaboration. He is a petty bureaucrat and politician of the C. I. O., a house-pet of the Roosevelts and the new deal as long as they reigned, and a meaningless fellow who manages to do well enough for James Carey. However, in view of the fact that he is now put forth as a brave and important fighter against the treason, I deem it equally important to note what he wrote on the back cover of a Communist tract in defense and glorification of Harry Bridges, ten years ago.

Bridges now is in jail, his $25,000 bail revoked on the finding of Federal Judge George B. Harris that he is a member of the Communist party, disloyal, and a menace to the security of the United States. At the time when Carey wrote his tribute to Bridges, however, Bridges had just come out winner of a disgraceful farce in which the Department of Labor under the ineptable Frances Perkins, had set in motion a process for the ostensible purpose of getting him deported.

The Department of Labor in this case seemed to be using its powers not to deport Bridges but to whitewash him and make it legally impossible for the people of the United States ever to look up or send him away as a traitorous adherent of the enemy.

For a long time, that was the effect of this proceeding. Bridges accomplished a great harm in that period and he enjoyed hearty fellowship most of the while with Murray, Curran and Quill.

Measures Integrity

Bearing in mind, by way of extenuation, the fact that Carey is incapable of serious harm because he has little influence even in the C. I. O., you may nevertheless measure his integrity by this:

"This book reveals vividly the colossal forces locked in struggle behind the facade of the 'trial' of Harry Bridges. Today, as in the days of Christ, the world needs those self-sacrificing leaders of men it so badly needs largely among the ranks of the people who work for a living."

The dragging of Jesus Christ into the situation is typical of the sanctimonious blasphemy of several conspicuous labor fakers who go about dripping Holy Water. Murray had the gall to compare his sackroom with Gethsemane and a thrombosis with the passion. The late Roosevelt compared some rubbish of his possibly ghosted at that, with Holy writ.

Judge Told Him

At any rate, Bridges is the same today that he was when Carey wrote that and the facts of his Communist allegiance were as well disclosed then as they were last Saturday when Judge Harris said:

"He is an agent dedicated to execute the Communist program nationally and internationally."

On the same page we find this from Mike Quill, president of the Transport Workers' union, confessing mostly of workers in horizontal transportation in the city of New York: "If Harry Bridges on trial were not based on government documents and extracts from testimony the average person would hardly believe that the outrages plotted and perpetrated by the enemies of labor were possible."

Quill's union followed the Communist line throughout the war. Under Quill, the C. I. O. council of the city of New York issued a flat order to all members to report immediately upon command for any activity that might be assigned them in any situation. They were to be a potential guerrilla army of enablers under command of a union administration which followed the Communist line. It was openly hostile to orderly local government. Under Quill, the bus drivers put the people of New York to terrible ordeals in exhausting weather, with buses creeping in slow-down parades.

Without specific announcement to that effect, Quill seemed to turn against the Communists and to join purposes with certain prominent priests of the Catholic force in the union movement. However, as far as the public knows, these apparent changes are mere vagaries or tactics. Quill may still be the same fellow at heart who once believed that Bridges was the victim of outrageous plots by enemies of labor. John Santos, the Communist who was ordered deported and ran away while the C. I. O., under Murray, was organizing his "defense," was national director of organization for Quill.

Curran has had the benefit of a great propaganda depicting him as an anti-Communist fighter. On the surface of things he would seem to have fought his old comrades within the Maritime union with the same cruel and illegal despotism that he and they formerly used against loyal American sailors. However, my own sentimental letters of the war include one from Curran stating that World War II was an imperialist aggression of the British and French until Hitler attacked Stalin whereupon it became a people's war. This was the absolute Communist line at that time.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Peace is the proper result of the Christian temper. It is the great kindness which our religion doth us, that it brings us to a settledness of mind, and a consistency within ourselves.—Bishop Patrick.

The Rich 'Soil of Competition'

In a remarkable article printed in Collier's, David Lilienthal, former head of the Tennessee Valley Authority and, after that, of the Atomic Energy Commission, strongly criticized our government's atomic policy. "Now, of all times, we need to demonstrate the vigor and adaptability of American business and industrial management," he said. "Yet we pick this time to dump our unique advantages overboard for 100 per cent government ownership, 100 per cent government financing, and increasingly centralized and governmental direction of one of the most technical undertakings in our whole history."

After discussing atomic policy, Mr. Lilienthal went on to present more generalized views. He wrote, "It takes the ideas of thousands and thousands of different people, armed with what knowledge and know-how has been previously accumulated, to make the kind of industrial progress that this country stands for. And no government commission, however wise and well-intentioned, no inner circle of private contractors for government, however well selected and diversified, can be counted on to develop these ideas, for they only grow well in the soil of competition—competition in spirit and in fact. This is the lesson of our whole history."

Mr. Lilienthal is especially well qualified to discuss this subject. His career in government was lengthy, and he held positions of the highest responsibility. When he speaks of the virtues of competition, and of the need for leaning more on private enterprise and less on government monopolies, he speaks as an authority. Certainly, this ever-increasing dependence on the government is one of the most menacing trends of our time.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Joint Ills Often Caused By Poor Posture, Obesity

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Osteoarthritis or hyperthrophic arthritis is not really arthritis at all. The name implies that there is inflammation present and this is rarely the case. Also, many people become unduly alarmed when they are told that they have this condition because they are afraid that they may become seriously crippled.

Osteoarthritis is actually a mild degeneration or wearing out of some of the structures which go to make the joints. It is a sort of aging of the joints which shows up first in those joints which do the most work, like the knees, hips or fingers.

The exact cause or causes are not entirely understood. There may be an inherited factor, that is, the cartilage and bone of people in some families may be particularly susceptible to early degeneration or osteoarthritis. Repeated injury also seems to promote the development of this condition. Poor posture, disturbances of blood circulation, and obesity are other conditions which contribute to the development of osteoarthritis.

The end joints of the fingers frequently become enlarged. This is often accompanied by a certain amount of stiffness and soreness, after the joints have been loosened up. These enlargements are very common in later years and are called Heberden's nodes, the name coming from the famous English physician who first described them.

Other joints commonly involved are the knees, shoulders, elbows and spine. Sometimes degeneration may be pretty well advanced without producing any noticeable pain or stiffness. Osteoarthritis is often found accidentally when an X-ray film is taken for something else.

The treatment of degenerative changes in the joints includes general measures aimed at relieving the discomfort and improving the overall physical condition. Local measures designed to relieve the involved joints and prevent or correct any difficulties which are present are also used. Occupational strains should be eliminated whenever possible and posture should be corrected.

REDUCING MAY HELP

Because so many people with osteoarthritis are overweight, reducing is often advisable. This is especially important if the knees are involved. If they have to carry 180 pounds when they are built to carry 150, they are obviously overworked!

People with osteoarthritis are rarely incapacitated and can usually move around though often with some discomfort. They do need frequent rest periods as this seems to relieve some of the stiff feeling. The proper use of heat, massage or special supports depends on what joints are involved, the age and physical condition of the person and the severity of the condition.

Osteoarthritis is almost always mild and should be classified as an ailment rather than a serious or dangerous disease. It is something with which the victim has to learn to live.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

Pessimism Fays For Gloomy Pete

"You and your black cats," scoffed North. "We could play an extra rubber if you didn't take so much time worrying about bad breaks that don't exist."

Fortunately for North, Pete paid no attention to him. It will be a long time before North complains again about Pete's exaggerated care in handling the dummy.

THE KINGDOM AND RACE

We must continue our study of the Absolute Order, the Kingdom of God, as it makes an absolute demand on all relative orders to submit and to lose themselves in this higher Order that they may find themselves again. In Nazism the Kingdom of Race was supreme and absolute. But not alone in Nazism. Many of us have the religion of being white. Where there is a clash between the Kingdom of God and the Kingdom of Being White, we choose and act upon the fact of race. It is our god. We cannot live abundantly unless we offer our race on the altar of God. Then we can paraphrase Paul and say: "He, being in the form of the dominant race, counted it not a thing to be grasped at, but made himself of no reputation, and took on him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men . . . therefore God hath highly exalted him." How can the white race be supreme? Only in one way. Let white people become the servant of all; then they will become the greatest of all. No race can be great except as it greatly gives itself to the service of others. Those will rule the world in the future who serve the world. That is an inexorable law written into our universe and therefore inescapable. But note: "servant of all." Some are willing to be the servant of some—their friends, their families, their class, their race—but they pull back from being the servant of all.

Only two came out of the last war with enhanced reputations—Christ and the Quakers. Why? Well, the Quakers were the servants of all. A Polish woman saw the Quakers feeding the starving on both sides of the conflict and said to one of them, "You are feeding everybody, aren't you? Poles, Russians, Germans—everybody, friend and foe? Well, I knew there ought to be people like that in the world, but I didn't know that there actually were." No wonder the Quakers were held in such tender affection—the servants of all had become the greatest of all. The future belongs to those who belong to others in loving service.

Gracious Master, Thou hast obeyed this law—Thou didst become the servant of all. And now Thou art enshrined in our hearts forever. Help me to lose my racialism in Thy passion for service, and thus I shall find myself again. In Thy name, Amen.

Just What Is 'Security'?

According to Senator Byrd, government expenditures for purely domestic purposes have increased 77 per cent since 1948.

"With a war on our hands," he said, "some of these outlays must be cut unless we are going to spend ourselves into the kind of bankruptcy the Russians are counting on."

It has long been Soviet doctrine that capitalism—especially in the United States—would collapse from inner weaknesses, and that then communism would take over the world with a minimum of difficulty. And the surest way to bring that situation about is to throw our billions away at home on phony welfare schemes and socialistic programs while we are trying to bolster the whole anti-Soviet world in stemming communist military aggression.

"Security" has become one of the great catch words, and it is time we analyzed it. Real security for this nation must be based on hard work and rigorous economy at home, in order to provide the money and the energies we must use abroad. There can be no security in any bankrupt government, as has been clearly demonstrated.

Rats and guinea pigs can be killed with high frequency sound waves, but man is safe against them because he has no fur. With the fur-bearing animals, the sound energy is turned into heat and they die from the high frequency noise because they get so hot their body proteins coagulate.

Latest improvement in lubrication is an oil that can be compressed and squirted under pressure into oil valves. Then, as part of this oil wears away with use, the rest expands and keeps the moving mechanical parts evenly lubricated.

ELDENA LADIES CLASS
The Ladies class of the Eldena church will sponsor an ice cream social Friday evening, Aug. 11, to be held Friday evening, Aug. 11 at 8 o'clock in the IOOF hall.

MINNIE BELLE LODGE
The regular meeting of Minnie Belle Rebekah Lodge No. 423 will be held Friday evening, Aug. 11 at 8 o'clock in the IOOF hall.

AT HENRY COUNTY
Tuesday, the Lee county home adviser Miss June Pligman, was in Henry county at the fair, judging 4-H exhibits.

The first of a series of pre-nuptial courtesies for Donna Dogwiler, bride elect of Darrell Brenner Jr., was a miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Victor Peterson with Mrs. William Leving and Miss Ruth Heibenthal as hostesses. The evening was spent in playing "Cootie" with the prizes won being given to Donna.

The honoree opened her many gifts before the lunch was served. The gift table held a bouquet of white gladioli and two paper umbrellas. The guests were seated at quartet tables where the color scheme of green and yellow was carried out. Bird vases holding white mums centered the tables and dainty umbrella nut cups were at each place.

Refreshments were served to the following guests: Mrs. William Cullen, Mrs. Homer Erzsanger Jr., Mrs. Bud Lutz, Mrs. Jane Gannon, Mrs. Catherine Kelly, Mrs. Bob Dogwiler, Mrs. Darrell Brenner Sr., Mrs. Al Dogwiler, Mrs. Kenneth Wechsler and Mrs. Ben Dogwiler and the Misses Carletta Rosenow, Betty Fish, Cheryl Wolf, Alice Thompson, Helen Vogel, Helen Grohens and Lorraine Bally. Unable to attend were Mrs. Bob Brenner and Mrs. Elnor Peterson and Miss Mary Louise James.

Gary Wechsler, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wechsler, entertained 13 of his little playmates and their mothers at a party honoring his third birthday recently. The party was held on the lawn of his grandmother's home on Fourth avenue.

Pictures were taken of the group and the little guests played with Gary's toys until time for the lunch. Lunch was served on picnic tables decorated in the birthday theme with gaily colored balloons suspended overhead. The centerpiece on the table was a cake in the form of a lamb and this was placed on a musical cake plate which played "Happy Birthday" while the guests were eating. Gary's birthday cake, decorated in pink and green, had three candles and the lettering, "Happy Birthday Gary" on it. Both cakes were a gift to Gary from Mrs. Molle Frost. Favors were miniature kitchen utensils for the girls and whistles for the boys.

Gary received many gifts from the following guests: David Deets, Alan Whitehead, Craig Cullen, Kenny Manon, Linda White, Linda and Donna Long, Lynn and Doris, Tyler, David and Denny Grobe, Curt and Marge Wenger, his aunts, Mrs. William Leving and Mrs. Victor Peterson and his grandmothers, Mrs. Al Dogwiler and Mrs. George Wechsler. Those unable to attend were: Sheryl and Sharon Wechsler and Lorna Ratzlaff of Sterling.

Amboy Couple Wed 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Fred King of Amboy observed their golden wedding anniversary, Sunday, Aug. 6th at which time a family dinner for 75 guests was served at their home at noon. One hundred and fifty relatives and friends called in the afternoon and evening during the hours of "Open House." The home was decorated with baskets of flowers sent in by relatives and friends.

Mrs. King wore a navy blue crepe dress and a corsage of yellow carnations for the occasion.

Fred King and Mary Rathen-hofer were wed at Our Lady of Perpetual Help church, Sublette, Aug. 7, 1900 by Father Rempe. Their attendants were Eva King, nee Street and Frank Lett and Mary and Martin Miller.

A hand crocheted table cloth covered the refreshment table that had as its center a four tiered wedding cake topped with a gold decoration which held a golden 50 in the center of a horseshoe. The cake was cut by Mrs. Ruth Grubar and was served with punch poured by the three granddaughters, Misses Elaine and Velma Lefelman and Mrs. Margie Lefelman.

The dinner was prepared by Mrs. Lena Slaybaugh, Mrs. Louise Bushman and Mrs. Esther Lefelman and served by Mrs. Alma and Miss Shirley Pfingsen, Mrs. Ruth Grubar and Mrs. Lucille Pfingsen. Mrs. Anna Lefelman was in charge of the guest book and cared for the gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. King are the parents of two daughters, Mrs. Clara Lefelman and Mrs. Pauline Stewart and a son, Walter. They have 14 grandchildren.

Out-of-town guests for the event were from Dorchester and Milwaukee, Wis., and Chicago and Aurora, Ill.

Golden Jubilee Mass
Monday morning a Golden Jubilee mass was celebrated at St. Patrick's church, Amboy, by Rev. Hubert at which time the Kings received the blessing of 50 years.

Portland Campaign Against Hoarding Really Catches on

Portland, Me., Aug. 10—(AP)—The Home Defenders of Freedom claimed victory today in their anti-hoarding fight. And communities across the nation are showing increased interest in the Portland plan.

"There's practically no hoarding in greater Portland now," said Edward H. Kessler, Jr., a leader of the Defenders.

In fact, said Kessler, hoarding just about ended with the build-up for last Sunday's start of the campaign.

Check 25 Stores

Kessler said a check of 25 food stores showed there have been no runs this week on sugar, coffee, bacon or canned meat. Clothing and dry goods stores said sales of nylon stockings, sheets and men's shirts are normal.

"We're pretty confident that hoarding had just about stopped before Sunday," said Kessler, who is executive manager of the Portland Chamber of Commerce.

The Portland plan against stocking items that became scarce in wartime began with a flood-lighted rally at which 4,000 persons took a pledge to be "Home Defenders of Freedom." This is what they promised:

"I will not buy more than my normal needs during this war emergency. I know that in so doing I am making a very real contribution to the cause of freedom and the security of my country."

Stores and other outlets are distributing pledge cards and red, white and blue lapel buttons.

Buttons Exhausted

Fifty thousand buttons—all that were on hand—were exhausted by Tuesday. Fifteen thousand more arrived by air express Wednesday and 35 thousand more are on order.

About 15 per cent of those who have signed cards are summer visitors.

Other communities are looking into it. Requests for information already have been received from Tucson, Ariz., Syracuse, N. Y., Youngstown, O., Wheeling, W. Va., and Cambridge, Mass.

The Portland plan was organized

Child, 13-Months Old, Has Fingers Severed Underneath 'Trolley'

Girard, Ill., Aug. 10—(AP)—Two fingers of an infant were severed yesterday by wheels of an Illinois Terminal Railroad trolley car.

Motorman William Houston reported the child was sitting beside the tracks with his right hand on the rail as the car slowly rounded a curve. The front wheels passed over the hand before Houston could make an emergency stop.

The injured child was Robert Lee Pritchard, 13-months old. Authorities said the boy apparently wandered onto the railroad right-of-way from his home nearby. Robert Lee was treated at St. John's hospital, Springfield.

The value of Oregon's forest and lumber products is estimated to be in excess of 700 million dollars annually.

Report Chinese Reds Infiltrate Indochina

Taipei, Formosa, Aug. 10—(AP)—Pro-Nationalist press reports said today 20,000 Chinese Communist troops have slipped into Indochina to join forces of Moscow-trained Ho Chi-Minh against the French-sponsored Vietnam government.

Cities Taking Steps To Eliminate Smoke

Chicago, Aug. 10—(AP)—Scores of cities are taking steps to sweep excess smoke out of their skies. "More than 200 municipalities in the U. S. have adopted smoke control ordinances," reports the American municipal association. "In general, these ordinances prohibit emission of dense smoke of more than a few minutes duration."

Fruit jar rings may be fastened to the under side of small rugs to prevent slipping.

Uncover 10,000 Year Old Caveman Bones

Pisa, Italy, Aug. 10—(AP)—Traces of cavemen who lived 10,000 years ago were discovered in a cave near this famed town of the leaning tower. Two skulls, some reindeer bones, pieces of earthenware vases and points of spears characteristic of that period, were found.

Oil was discovered beneath Lake Maracaibo, Venezuela, in World War I.

Before John Adams wed Abigail Smith, her clerkman father opposed the match with the text, "My daughter is grievously tormented with a devil," according to the Encyclopedia Americana. Adams followed Washington as president, she became a famous writer.

Jerusalem, Aug. 10—(AP)—Mapam, the leftist and pro-Communist political party of Israel, bitterly criticized the recent courtesy visit to Israel's ports by Admiral Sir John Edelman, commander-in-chief of the British Mediterranean fleet.

Moche Erem, a Mapam spokesman, said the British navy "had served as an instrument for the immigrant hunt and had blockaded the country during the struggle for liberation."

Premier David Ben Gurion replied "we prefer to forget the past, not only in our relations with England, but also with all states which in the past acted against the Zionist movement."

17-Year-Old Israeli Cow Sets Milk Mark

Tel Aviv, Israel, Aug. 10—(AP)—A 17-year-old Israeli cow called "Stavit" is credited with setting a new milk output record for Israel and the Middle East. The ministry of agriculture reported the cow had produced more than 100,000 quarts of milk. The previous lifetime record for any cow registered by the ministry was 50,000 quarts. "Stavit" is descended from a Damascus cow and a Dutch bull.

In 1895, the headgear of U. S. Marines was a spiked helmet.

Youthful Sophisticates Prefer Short, Narrow Skirts

Sophisticated, youthful clothes for the career girl are the hallmark of designer Emily Wilkens. Cotton velvet in heather brown (left) fashions an afternoon dress touched with black braid. Beige corduroy is used (center) for a suit with box jacket and straight skirt which is teamed with black linen blouse. A daytime dress in moss green wool (right) has black leather contour belt.

New York—Fresh silhouettes in all clothes for the youthful sophisticate are marked by the straight, narrow look and by shorter skirts. Box jackets, maddy jackets and short-tail jackets are done in corduroy, velveteen, wool jersey or yarn-dye flannels and worn with slim skirts.

Emily Wilkens, who once designed for teen-agers, is now doing clothes for the young sophisticate. Typical of her tall collection is a beige corduroy suit with box jacket and straight skirt. She teams this suit with a black linen blouse for color contrast. The blouse has a tucked bib front.

A daytime dress from her collection is in moss green sheer wool. Simple and straight, it has a black leather contour belt, high neck, tiny color, and tight sleeves.

A third dress from this designer is in heather brown cotton velveteen, touched with black braid, for afternoon wear. The moulded bodice is coupled with a slightly lower waistline. Neckline is high, with small collar, and sleeves are three-quarter length.

Woman Banker Tells Fair Sex to Learn About Money

By GAILE DUGAS

New York — Though many women are obliged to earn money and others must budget for their families, most American women are second-rate in the management of money. That's the opinion of Miss Dorcas E. Campbell, assistant vice-president of a New York bank, an author and lecturer on money management.

"Since more and more women are working and since women often outlive their husbands and thus inherit money, it's essential that they learn how to manage it successfully," Miss Campbell says. "On the job, women earn less than men and therefore have to do more with their money. As inheritors, they must know how to hang on to it."

In the United States, Miss Campbell points out, women are the owners of more wealth and money than men but in name only. They let some man—husband, son, father, brother, lawyer—take care of their financial problems. There is no reason, she thinks, why any woman who can run a house or hold a job can't learn to handle money.

If a woman can be trusted to buy a refrigerator which will last for years, she can be trusted to choose the right kind of U. S. Savings Bonds for the next decade of her life," Miss Campbell says. "Mostly, it's a matter of not being intimidated by financial terms which are no harder to learn than words like 'parrot' or 'marmite'."

The ABC's of planned saving, a term which Miss Campbell feels is far more accurate than "budgeting," include these important points:

1. Having money in the bank for an emergency or for an investment which will be a form of thrift.
2. Buy insurance tailored to your needs and income.
3. Buy U. S. Savings Bonds outright or through payroll deduction.
4. Invest in industrial securities with your surplus money.

"Women's clubs can help by studying money instead of gossips," Miss Campbell adds. "Their committees, which line up speakers, could ask some financial experts to outline the basic steps in money management. The rewards for acquiring the ability to handle money wisely are high. They come in the form of comfort and security."

One last suggestion from Miss Campbell: Learn to read the financial page of your newspaper. "It can teach you a great deal and, once you get the hang of it, it's fascinating."

Financial expert Dorcas E. Campbell: "Any woman who runs a house or holds a job can learn to manage money."

State to Take Over St. Louis Bus, Cars, Hint

St. Louis, Aug. 10—(AP)—The St. Louis Public Service company probably will go under state control before midnight unless final conferences today produce a settlement in a wage dispute.

Streeter and bus operators have threatened a shutdown at midnight unless the utility changes its stand and accepts a fact-finding board's recommendations for a wage hike of seven cents an hour, retroactive to last Jan. 1.

Gov. Forrest Smith says he is prepared to seize the utility and operate it under the state's King-Thompson law barring strikes in public utilities unless the deadlock is broken before the deadline.

Arthur E. East, president of the Streeter and Bus Operators' Union, said he would recommend to the operators that they stay on the job in the event of a seizure.

After conferences with union and company representatives yesterday, Chairman Vance Julian of the State Mediation Board said "It looks better today than it did yesterday, but they always say I'm an optimist."

The U. S. Geological Survey says only 25 per cent of the country has been adequately mapped.

The Orinoco River system covers much of central Venezuela.

Lost in Woods, Girl, 2, Is Guarded by Her Mongrel Dogs

Freeport, Ill., Aug. 10—(AP)—Two mongrel dogs guarded a little girl who fell asleep after becoming lost in the woods near her farm home last night.

The child, Susan Sweely, 2, was found at 2 a.m. today by members of a searching party of 500 who had hunted her in wooded areas and marsh lands for seven hours.

Susan was found asleep on the grass at the top of a ravine less than a mile from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Sweely. The Sweely's dogs, about five years old, were at her side as she slept.

Found by Sergeant "I'm sleepy," was about all little Susan said when she was picked up from the wet grass by Sgt. Earl Runtz of the National Guard.

Runtz was one of about 90 members of Company I of the Freeport National Guard unit who had joined in the search for the missing child.

Others hunting through the area of the Sweely home, near Pearl City, a community of about 500, 12 miles southwest of Freeport, included farmers and residents of Pearl City.

The search for the child started after Mrs. Sweely had telephoned her husband in Pearl City that Susan had wandered away from home early last evening with the two dogs and failed to return.

Sweely was attending a free outdoor movie in Pearl City. The film was stopped and many in the audience volunteered to join in the search for the child.

Farmers Help, Too Farmers also joined the searching party. Later the National Guard members in Freeport volunteered to help hunt for Susan. Searchlights were sent to the area by the Freeport fire department. The searchers learned of the finding of the child with the blowing of the fire siren at Pearl City. By that time, Susan was back home in her bed and asleep.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Clifford Paul of Stephenson county said the child apparently suffered no ill effects.

Indian State Crops Reduced by Drought

Madras, India, Aug. 10 (AP) The failure of the monsoon for the third successive year has left this south Indian state with a critical situation. Lakes are dry, crops have withered and cattle are starving. Some farmers are migrating. The price of rice has tripled in the black market and rice rations are down to less than seven ounces a day. Official estimates are that eight million people have been affected by the scarcity of food.

Food officials have tried to supplement the rice ration with wheat, milo and millet. But rice eaters don't like these grains, and it has not been possible to provide adequate stocks, anyway.

Egypt Subsidizes Her Hotel Industry

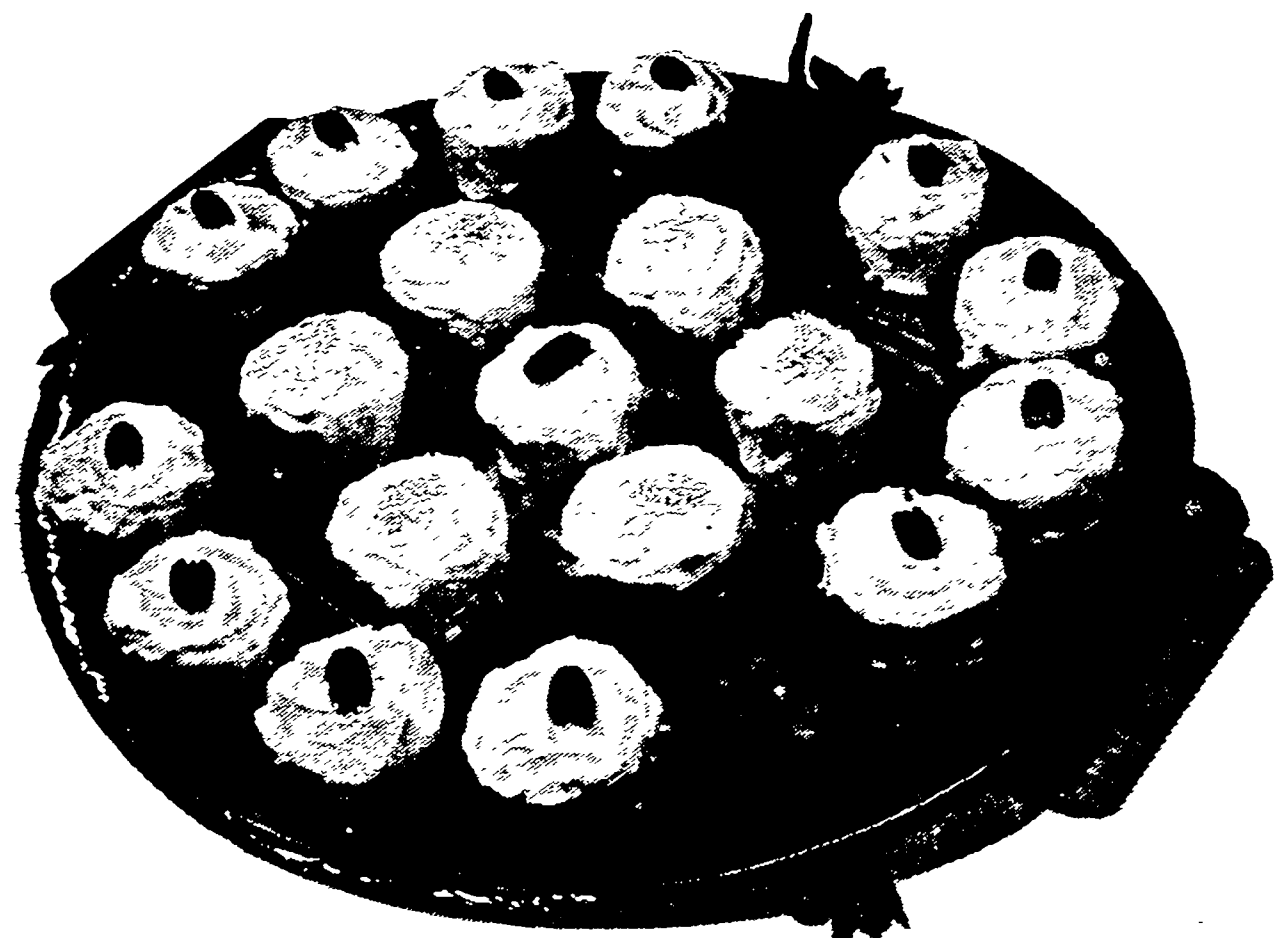

Cairo, Aug. 10—(AP)—Egypt is following France's lead and subsidizing her hotel industry. The government has allocated $2,152,000 to finance renewal and modernization of hotels.

Financing will be in the form of loans to hotel owners up to 50 per cent of the cost of repairs. Egypt draws much foreign currency from tourists.

27 States Increase Tax for Motor Fuel

Chicago, Aug. 10—Twenty-seven states have raised their motor fuel taxes since the end of World War II. The reason, says the American Public Works association, "is the pressing need for funds to bring highways, rural roads and urban streets up to modern standards."

Homemaking TIPS and TRICKS

EASY AS PIE

You can enjoy your Sunday leisure and still have a freshly baked pie for dinner if you prepare the pie the day before and store it in your refrigerator until baking time.

A 3-pronged towel rack fastened to the broad end of your ironing board will hold small ironed pieces and save many steps. The prongs fold flat along the end of the board when the board is not in use.

A "SEAM-LY" IDEA

When ripping a long seam with a razor blade, fasten one end of the material under the pressure foot of your sewing machine. This leaves both hands free to do the job quickly and safely.

BUTTON, BUTTON...

"Who's got the button?" is quickly answered if you use this simple storage trick. Place matching buttons between two strips of transparent tape and simply snip off the strips as buttons are needed.

AMBROSIA JIFFY CAKES

1-1/3 cups sifted cake flour
2 tsps. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. each cinnamon and allspice
1 1/2 cup shortening

Sift flour with baking powder, salt and spices. Cream shortening, orange peel and sugar until fluffy. Add egg and beat until well blended. Combine milk and orange juice. Add flour mixture alternately with liquid. Fill muffin pans 2/3 full. Bake at 375° F. for 20 or 25 minutes.

AMBROSIA JIFFY FROSTING: Melt 2/3 tsp. butter or margarine; add 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1 cup coconut and 1 tbsp. grated orange peel. Blend in 1/4 cup finely chopped orange pulp. Spread the mixture over the warm cakes; place under broiler as far from heat as possible. Broil a few seconds or until topping bubbles and coconut starts to brown.

2 tsps. grated orange peel
3/4 cup sugar
1 egg
1/4 cup milk
1/4 cup fresh orange juice

Slim Sheath Changes to Many Uses

By GAULE DUGAS

New York—The fashion spotlight for fall is focused sharply on the slim and narrow line of the sheath dress. It's seen in daytime and in evening. It may be straight and unadorned or it may have panels which float from the waist, giving it freedom and motion. But no matter how it's done, it's seen everywhere.

A budget-priced basic sheath dress which can convert to wear for many occasions is the brain child of designer Greta Plattry. She uses menswear flannel in the new charcoal gray for her sheath. There are shoulder bands which button on and off with shiny pearl buttons and thus help effect the conversion trick. There are trouser pleats over the hips and there is a narrow natural calf belt.

The slim sheath dress, which sets the straight and narrow line for fall, can appear in many guises. In this design by Greta Plattry, a charcoal gray menswear flannel sheath dress can go to the country (left) with a white cotton blouse, become a short evening gown with addition of overskirt (center), or with pearls and chiffon handkerchief (right) convert to a late-day or dinner dress.

For country wear this sheath can take a lantern-sleeved cotton blouse or a sulphur yellow and gray rib knit worsted jersey blouse. Then, as the shadows lengthen, the straps can come off and with a velvet belt, a colorful chiffon square and pearls, it's a handsome evening gown. To become a short evening dress, it needs only the addition of a full, gathered overskirt in ruby red

Rail Strike Threatening; Ask 40 Hours

Washington, Aug. 10 (AP) — The White House is making another effort today to keep a big railroad strike from breaking out in the midst of the Korean war crisis.

Union leaders representing 300,000 conductors and trainmen are demanding a 40-hour work week.

Steelman On Job

President Truman's special assistant, John R. Steelman, a veteran labor trouble shooter, was disclosed yesterday to have been in closed-door conferences with representatives of the major railroads and the two unions for two days.

None of the parties would discuss the White House talks.

A presidential fact-finding board recommended against the shorter week at the same pay in its report to Truman in May. Under procedure of the Railway Labor Act members of the conductors and trainmen's unions were free to strike after July 15 but they put off such action indefinitely because of the international situation.

A third union, the switchmen, walked out on five western railroads over the same issue, but their strike was called off voluntarily on four lines and by court injunction on the fifth.

Dispute Explodes

The dispute exploded on the floor of the senate yesterday. Senator Morse (R-Ore.) read a telegram from President W. P. Kennedy of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and P. O. Hughes of the Order of Railway Conductors. The wire, sent to President Truman, recommended seizure of properties "until such time as this dispute is settled in fairness to the rights of our members."

Senator Donnell (R-Mo), sponsor of a bill to outlaw railroad strikes and force disputes into compulsory arbitration, responded to Morse's action by calling for passage of his bill. The senate labor committee recently turned thumbs down on the Donnell legislation.

Donnell argued that the interests of the public should be placed before interests either of the railroad owners or employees.

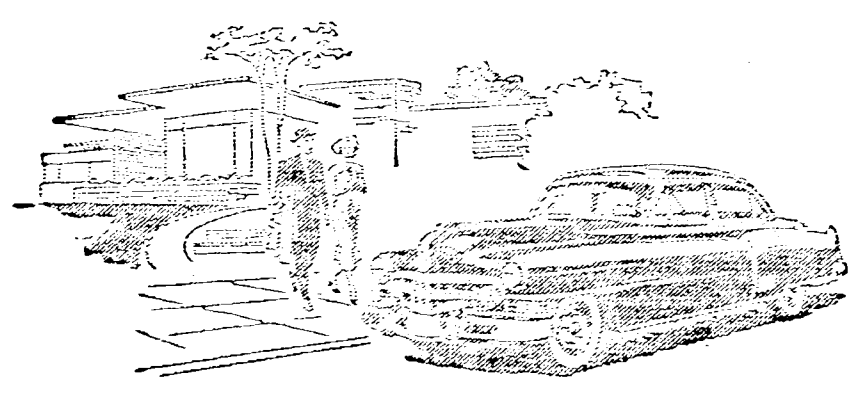

ATTENTION, ARCHITECTS and CONTRACTORS!

For the first time in 50 years we have in stock all designs of cast iron lace-work, which may be seen in the Vieux Carré in New Orleans, LA. We will mail to architects and contractors our catalog for the asking.

Some of the Lorie-ornamental iron work has recently been installed by Henry M. Jenson, Dixon contractor. Any one interested may call him at 6-1109.

Perfect Reward for Achievement!

WHEN A MAN PLANS and dares and endeavors until he achieves something out of the ordinary—few would deny him some taste of the fruits of his labor.

"Tis toil's reward that sweetens industry."

"As you have sown, so also shall you reap."

"According to the labour, so is the reward."

And we believe sincerely that—for the average man—there is no sweeter personal reward for achievement than a Cadillac car.

First of all, it is the perfect symbol of attainment. In almost every community where adequate highways exist, Cadillac is known and recognized as the overwhelming favorite of the world's distinguished people.

And few possessions, indeed, can give so much personal happiness to their owners—during so many days in the year.

A Cadillac car is a constant joy to drive. You can sit at the wheel, for hour after hour, completely at ease. Many owners say they drive hundreds of miles each week—just for pleasure and relaxation.

And it adds so much to your satisfaction to know that economy goes with you—each mile you drive.

It actually costs less to buy the lower-priced Cadillacs than certain models of numerous other makes of cars. A single tankful of gasoline will usually suffice for a full day's drive. And the full lifespan of a Cadillac has never yet been measured.

If you are one who has planned and labored until you've earned something special for yourself—come in and see us.

We know you'd enjoy a Cadillac—and even your severest critic would have to admit that it's a practical car to buy.

P.S.: Perhaps you know some modest man who ought to read this message. If so, we think you'd be doing right if you brought it to his attention.

A PAINTING BEE is scheduled Saturday morning at Reynolds Field. The bleachers are going to be finished off with the green paint that already covers some of them. The light poles are to get a white coat of paint which will probably extend at least the height of a man. Everyone is welcome to come out and help. In fact, it is a definite request that all interested persons report to Reynolds Field about 8:30 a. m. Saturday.

HARRY BEARD and H. EMMERT are organizing the paint job. Workers are asked to bring a brush and a can for paint. It's a chance for Reynolds' football boosters to really get out and help. Shouldn't take long with a sizable group. Some of the female crowd would probably find the morning operation an interesting project. Beard and Emmert have been contributing to the football success of the community all season. They deserve plenty of support.

HANK HENRY and "SONNY" KNACK played a big part in the success of the VFW at Reynolds Field last night. Knack swung that big bat of his for three straight doubles. His defensive play and hustle is an inspiration to every player in Dixon. Henry exhibited the same kind of play. There are plenty of hard knocks in store for the men who play the game for all its worth. Hank is one of the "old school" who can handle them out and turn right around and take them just as well.

IT'S NO DISGRACE to get flattened in a good ball game. When an athlete defends a base against a base-runner, he must often put himself in a precarious position. However, we agree with Art Carlson when he says, "There are differences between playing the game for what it's worth and taking advantage of the situation." An unhealthy situation has developed at Reynolds Field last night when a runner deliberately knocked down the first baseman. It was not a good end to such a fine ball game.

EARL SUDDUTH, WALNUT RIDGE, Arkansas, product who won the last Golden Glove heavyweight title at Rockford, has decided to turn professional. He signed a contract with Ross Miller, a Chicago business man. Miller formerly managed Ken Overlin of Decatur, a middleweight champion.

DuQuoin's "Lusty Song" Is Hambletonian Classic Winner

By JOHN CHANDLER

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Del Miller, a "veteran youth" of the grand circuit, found the $75,209 Hambletonian stakes on his plate, so he just grabbed it up.

The 37-year-old driver who hails from Meadow Lands, Pa., whipped Lusty Song home to win the Silver Anniversary Hambletonian yesterday in two straight heats.

Miller, who is the fourth driver of Lusty Song in two years, never had an idea he'd be up in the big brown colt's milky until 10 days ago.

Then E. J. (Gene) Hayes, the boss of the Hayes Fair Acres stable, DuQuoin, Ill., and owner of Lusty Song, decided to release trainer-driver Foy Funderburk and look around for another Hambletonian driver.

Del Miller, who trains and drives for W. N. Reynolds, the Winston-Salem, N. C., tobacco tycoon, got the job.

Miller had a fully Mystaria, as his chief Hambletonian hope, but the horse didn't show enough to warrant a starting place in the race. Hayes obtained Reynolds' permission to approach Miller, and the Pennsylvania driver accepted.

That was a gamble worth 10 per cent of Lusty Song's $40,537 Hambletonian booty for Miller, who never had won America's greatest harness horse event.

But yesterday was the big day for both Miller and Hayes. The latter was tasting his first Hambletonian victory in two cracks at the three-year-old trotting classic. The Hayes entry of Scotch Pal and Atomic Maid finished eighth and ninth a year ago.

Lusty Song, a son of Voimite-Scott Song, had been beaten twice this year on the half mile tracks by Star's Pride.

So the crowd of 16,942 established Star's Pride and his stablemate, Florican, the 7-5 favorite in the opening mile heat of the Hambletonian.

Lusty Song was the second choice at 8 to 5.

Made No Mistakes

Miller never made a mistake. The only time he was in Lusty Song's sulky prior to the race was the final tuneup last Friday when they did Good Time Park's mile in 2:02.5.

That was enough to convince Miller he had the horse to beat for the workout time was the fastest in either a race or workout for any sophomore trotter this season.

In the first heat, Lord Steward from the stable of Ralph H. Kroening, Milwaukee, went into the early lead. Miller watched Lord Steward's dust past the first quarter mile, then gave Lusty Song the word. Lusty Song went to the front before they hit the half-mile marker, out Star's Pride with Harry Powell driving, was making his bid.

Whips Challenge

That was all there was to the challenge, however, as Lusty Song came home with a length and a half of daylight between him and Star's Pride. Lord Steward was third in the field of 13 starters.

In the second heat, Vic Song, owned by S. A. Walther and son F. Fairfield, Mo., went to the front soon after the field got away. But once around the turn Lusty Song and Miller were up there again.

Vic Song faded and at the half Star's Pride was challenging. But Miller whipped Lusty Song under the wire in a cloud of dust—a scant neck ahead of Star's Pride. Florican was third in the final heat.

Both heats were clipped off in a snappy 2:02. And this time Lusty Song—co-favorite with Star's, 1950,

Eagles and All-Stars Set for Friday Game

Pro Grid Club Favored in 17th Annual Classic

Chicago, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The National Football league champion Philadelphia Eagles came into Chicago today ready and fit for the Soldier Field scrap tomorrow night with the College All-Stars.

Coach Greasy Neale and his squad of 46 rookies will stage a final dress rehearsal under the Soldier Field lights tonight for the game against what is touted as one of the best collegian squads ever assembled. Though Philadelphia snatched the collegians last year 28-0, in the 16th annual All-Star classic, the Eagles today were quoted as favorites by only 14-1 points.

The Eagles were given a setback when Neale announced yesterday before leaving their Grand Rapids, Minn., training camp that William Patrick McHugh, ace pass defender, is definitely out of tomorrow's battle because of an aggravated knee injury.

"We are going to miss McHugh who has no peer in the National league as a pass defender," Neale said. "Otherwise, except for minor bruises here and there the squad is in good shape."

Meanwhile, in their camp at St. John's Military Academy, Delaware, Wis., Head Coach Eddie Anderson planned to send his 50 collegians through a final brief drill today to keep them primed for tomorrow's clash. The All Stars will break camp tomorrow.

Doak Walker, Southern Methodist University halfback, and Clayton Tonnemaker, 235-pound center from Minnesota, are co-captains of the All-Stars. Coach Anderson's squad is loaded with talent from Notre Dame, Michigan, Minnesota and other big name football schools.

Anderson is also pleased with the training camp showings of many of his squad from the smaller schools.

Hardin Simmons Ace

"That Bob McCasney from Hardin Simmons is a fine receiver," Anderson said, in looking over his roster. Hardin Simmons is the Texas college that produced Bulldog Turner, of Chicago Bear fame.

Another rough and ready fellow who may be slated for heavy work tomorrow night is Don Campora, tackle from the College of the Pacific. There is also his scouting quarterback teammate, Eddie Le Baron.

Two other capable defensive tackles are John Sandusky from Villanova and Lou Creekmur, of William and Mary. Another reliable W. & M. product who might see heavy going at guard on offense is George Hughes.

Oklahoma Power

Oklahoma has a fancy role in the All Star cast. Jim Owens is rated as one of the squad's two best pass receivers. Leon Manley has plenty of speed as a tackle and may start with the offensive squad. Another Oklahoma star is Star West, one of the squad's outstanding guards. These Oklahomans were members of two Big Seven conference champion teams.

For the first time in history of the All Star series, every collegian was expected to be in uniform and ready to play. Every member of the squad has received the attention of the coaches and the spirit at Delafield camp has been exceptionally high.

Steve Van Buren, Clyde Scott and Bosh Pritchard, figure to be the three top running threats for the Eagles. Another strong unit in the attacking backfield has Tommy Thompson at quarter and the two veteran backs Joe Muka and Jack Myers.

The game is expected to draw about 90,000 fans. The weatherman says skies will be cloudy.

Doby's Hitting Paces Indians At St. Louis

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

American league pitchers are feeling the after-effects of Larry Doby's near-tragic skulking of some two weeks ago.

Since Brooklyn's Joe Hatten knocked Doby unconscious with a pitched ball in a July 24 exhibition game at Ebbets Field, no pitcher has been safe from Larry's bludgeoning bat.

In the 11 games the Cleveland Negro outfielder has played since the accident, he has pounded out nine home runs, driven in 20 runs and batted .462. His nine homers matched his entire output for his first 86 games.

Drives in Five

Doby tried his utmost to give Cleveland a sweep of its doubleheader with St. Louis last night. He slammed two home runs and three doubles to drive in five runs. The best the Tribe could do, however, was to split the two games.

Cleveland won the opener, 4-3, with Doby's two homers accounting for all the runs. The Browns blew a four-run lead but bounced back to win the second game, 10-8, on Ken Wood's eighth inning homer with one on. Doby belted three doubles, drove in a run and scored twice.

The split caused the third place Indians to lose a nail game to both the pace-setting Detroit Tigers and runner-up Yankees.

Tigers Edge Sox

Teh Tigers downed the Chicago White Sox, 5-3, to maintain their three-game advantage over the Yankees, who shaded the Boston Red Sox, 2-1 behind Vic Raschi's three-hit pitching.

The Philadelphia Phillies continued their dominance in the National league, defeating the Brooklyn Dodgers for the second straight day, 5-4. The victory protected their five-game lead over the Boston Braves who edged the New York Giants 3-2.

Cards Get Ram

The St. Louis Cardinals, who moved into third place, were aided by rain. They were slated to face the Pirates under the lights in Pittsburgh. The scheduled game between Cincinnati and Chicago also was postponed by rain.

In the only other American league game, the Philadelphia Athletics edged out Washington's Senators 7-6, on an 11th inning single by Joe Tipton.

Locke Wins Playoff at Tam, Open "World" Golf Today

Chicago, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Tam O'Shanter's bewildering golf circus today launches its grand finale, the four-decker $53,000 "World" championship of golf.

The world affair, a 72-hole medal chase for 32 top professionals, 16 men amateurs, eight women pros and eight women amateurs, uncovers a real pot of gold at the end of a gaudy 10-day rainbow of golf.

Favored in pro golf's richest tourney, carrying an $11,000 winner's purse, was Bobby Locke, the British visitor, who yesterday spanked Lloyd Mangrum 69 to 75 for top money of $2,500 in the All-American pro meet.

Locke's mathematical 4-stroke decision over defending champion Mangrum in an 18-hole playoff ended the preliminary phase of the Tam sweepstakes which started a week ago today.

In between, some 400 golfers, good, bad, but few indifferent, wandered Tam's chameleon acres in the various brackets of the All-American tourney.

Two of the three All-American divisions wound up in playoffs. Besides the Locke-Mangrum overtime after both finished in blazing fashion for a 252 doublet, the Amateur also went into a playoff. Frank Stranahan, the wealthy golf practitioner from Toledo, Ohio, and Wilford Hehrle, whose amateur status has been questioned by the U S C A, tied in the amateur meet at 291.

Wins Playoff

Stranahan then won an 18-hole playoff, on the last green of which Hehrle technically disqualified himself by picking up when he was five strokes behind.

All-American play started with the farways shaggy and the punts tricky. The first two days only one pro bettered 70. But a last, touch-up of the course charged that.

The "World" defending champion is Johnny Palmer, who won a playoff last year with Jimmy Demaret, after they had tied at 275. In last weekend's All-American, however, Palmer and Demaret finished well off the pace with 291 and 292 respectively.

Zaharias in Field

The hand-picked women's pro field of eight, includes defending champion Babe Zaharias freshly crowned as the All-American women's open title with a record-breaking 296. The other women pro contenders are Patty Berg, Louise Suggs, Betty Jameson, Marilyn Smith, the Bauer sisters, Marlene and Alice, and Helen Dettweiler.

The pro gals divvy up $4,000 with $2,000 going to the winner.

Jerry Hoyt to Drive Racer at All-Iowa Fair

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Race promoter Sam Nunn today announced he had signed Jerry Hoyt, who at 21 was the youngest driver ever to compete in the Indianapolis 500-mile classic, for the AAA big-car races opening the All-Iowa Fair here Saturday afternoon.

Hoyt became the tenth Indianapolis star to enter the meet, the first sanctioned by the American Automobile Association in Iowa since 1928. The others include the winner Johnny Parsons, Spider Webb, Duane Carter, Tommy Hinnershitz, Andy Linden, one-legged Bill Schindler, Lee Wallard, Walt Brown and Troy Ruttman, often called the fastest human alive. In addition dirt-track ace Hank Rogers, Eddie Zalcuk, Doc Shanerbrook, Pete Romevich and Jory Ray have also been signed. Ray, of Louisville, Ky., is the only Negro in the sport today.

A son of a former Indianapolis driver, Hoyt was groomed for the "500" from the day he was five years of age. When eleven, he made his first appearance on the Indianapolis oval, driving a miniature race car especially constructed by his father, Jack Hoyt.

Just past May 30, ten years later, he finally qualified for the "500" and finished 26th in the Morris Special, owned by Dr. Lloyd Morris, of Mt. Carmel, Ill. He will drive the same car here, although its 270 cubic inch motor has since been replaced by a 220 cubic inch power plant.

The Merchants tied the count at 4-1 when Blum singled and scored on two Lindquist errors.

Lindquist took the final lead in the fifth when Walters walked, advanced on Wassenaar's hit and scored on an error.

Dingell Bill Helps Nation's Fishing Group

Washington, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Wildlife authorities welcomed the final enactment of the Dingell bill today as the best news in many years for the nation's fishing enthusiasts.

The bill, jointly sponsored by Rep. Dingell (D-Mich.) and Senator Johnson (D-Colo.), earmarks revenue from the federal 10 percent tax on sports fishing tackle.

Such revenue, estimated at from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 a year, will go back to the states to help them restore and expand game fish resources. President Truman signed the bill into law yesterday.

Carl Spaenmaker, a conservation director for the National Wildlife Federation, told a reporter.

"Enactment of this bill is the third most far-reaching conservation measure congress ever has passed affecting wildlife.

"Over the years this bill will produce better fishing for everyone."

Close Race in Nebraska for Governorship

Omaha Aug 10 — (AP) — A scant thousand votes stood between the two leaders in the race for the Nebraska Democratic gubernatorial nomination today leaving in doubt when will carry the party standard against Governor Val Peterson in November.

Walter R. Raelcke, former legislator from Central City, led with 26,679 votes from 2,632 of 2,074 precincts. Terry Carpenter, ex-congressman from Scottsbluff, had 26,642. Three other candidates trailed far behind.

So close was the margin, the final determination of the winner may be left to the canvassing board which meets Aug. 29.

Governor Peterson won the Republican nomination in a walk-around from two other candidates.

Of Nebraska's four congressmen, Democrat Eugene D. O'Sullivan of Omaha and Republican Karl Stefan of Norfolk were unopposed for re-nomination. Rep. Carl T. Curtis of Minden, defeated Joseph Alexis, university of Nebraska professor, and Rep. A. L. Miller of Kimball won over a young Sidney attorney Hammond McNish. Both Miller and Curtis are Republicans.

Former congressman Howard Buffett of Omaha, Republican who was beaten in the congressional race by O'Sullivan two years ago, was nominated to face O'Sullivan again in the November election.

Army Opens Five Training Camps at Once

Washington, Aug. 10 — (AP) — The army is planning immediate reopening of five more training camps with a total capacity of 101,800 men. But many college students who want to continue in school apparently won't have to help fill them for at least another year.

Selective Service headquarters yesterday authorized deferment of such students whose grades put them in the upper half of their classes during the last year they attended college.

The regulations, however, are temporary ones.

The army's expanded training program, also announced yesterday, calls for reopening Camps Rucker at Daleville, Ala.; Stewart at Hinesville, Ga.; Roberts at San Miguel, Calif.; McCov at Sparta, Wis. and Edwards at North Falmouth, Mass.

The camps have been inactive for some time.

Their capacities are: Rucker, 25,000 men; Stewart, 3,800; Roberts, 26,000; McCov, 27,000, and Edwards, 20,000.

Dog, Devoted to Blind Horse, Acts Like a Fretting Mother

Spencer, Okla., Aug. 10 — (AP) — Gal, a little four year old dog, has lent her eyes to Dollie, a horse. The pooch of dubious parentage has become a fretting mother over the bay mare—blind since a colic.

An Odd Pair

They make an odd looking pair bounding about the Green Pastures community farm of J. M. Collins east of here in central Oklahoma.

But there's nothing odd about it to Gal. There's no one else to see that the seven-year-old Dollie gets to her barn every night.

Collins bought Dollie for $20 five years ago and trained the blind mare as a plow horse.

Tenants living on Collins' farm took care of the horse and the dog until last December.

When they moved, Collins wasn't sure what to do with Dollie.

But Gal, who previously had ignored the horse, stepped in.

The little white mongrel with a patch of black over one eye saw to it that Dollie got to her barn every night, and that no stray dogs bothered her.

Gal is never far from Dollie and the horse has come to depend on the dog as a pair of eyes.

She becomes almost panicky when she senses that the dog is too far away.

"After I trained Dollie as a plow horse, the people I bought her from wanted to buy her back," Collins smiled. "She's a wonderful horse."

One of the few times Gal relaxes her watch on Dollie is when Collins is using her for plowing.

Like a smart dog, Gal curls up under a tree and goes to sleep.

Murray Wins Recount Vote in Oklahoma

Oklahoma City, Aug. 10 (AP) — Johnston Murray emerged as Oklahoma's Democratic nominee for governor today as a vicious battle of the ballots came to a close.

A recount of the state's 77 counties took only 47 votes away from Murray's 1,009 vote margin over William O. Coe gained in the July 23 runoff primary.

This left Murray with 962 votes to spare. The State Election Board will meet Saturday morning to certify the recount and issue Murray his certificate of nomination.

Coe charged that he lost the runoff by fraud and won Supreme Court approval for the recount after he was rejected by the State Election Board.

He posted $19,250 bond to pay for the recount. Murray put up $3,200 for a recount in 21 counties in what he described as a protective measure.

Murray's Republican opponent will be Joe O. Ferguson, Pawnee newspaper publisher.

Murray is the son of former Governor W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray.

Idaho Senate Race Is Still Inconclusive

Boise, Aug. 10 — (AP) — The hard-fought battle for the Democratic nomination to the six-year U. S. senate term in Idaho remained inconclusive today—two days after the primary election.

But the count definitely favored former Senator D. Worth Clark, seeking to oust incumbent Senator Glen E. Taylor.

With 779 of 839 precincts counted, Clark had 25,475, and Taylor, the guitar-playing former cowboy from Pocatello, 25,409.

A third man in the race, Representative Compton I. White, had 14,507.

Needs Plurality

Only a plurality is necessary to win in Idaho, making a run-off unnecessary.

Sen. Henry C. Dworshak was assured of the Republican nomination for the four-year senate post. Dworshak now is serving by appointment the term left vacant by the death of Sen. Bert H. Miller, a Democrat.

His probable Democratic opponent for the four year post is Claude J. Burtonshaw, political science professor at Rexburg College in Rexburg.

Welker Wins

Herman Welker received the big vote for the Republican six-year nomination, a 5,000 vote lead over his closest opponent.

Opponents in the governor's race in November will be Calvin E. Wright on the Democratic ticket and Len Jordan on the Republican.

Gen. MacArthur Says His Formosa Confab Was Strictly Military

Tokyo, Aug. 10 — (AP) — General MacArthur emphasized today that his consultations with Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek at Taipei covered only military defense of Formosa.

MacArthur issued a special statement to deny "many misstatements" which "maliciously misrepresented" his recent visit to the Chinese nationalist island capital. He did not say who criticized his mission.

VISION REPORTED— Mrs. Fred Van Hoof, 40, says a vision of the Virgin Mary has appeared before her six times in her farm yard near Necedah, Wisconsin. The farm, near the village dump, and even nearer to the railroad tracks, is now attracting scores of persons to view and pray at the spot where the vision is said to have occurred. Mrs. Van Hoof claims the vision will appear again.

Students Will Be Processed By Draft, Rule

Chicago, Aug. 10 — (AP) — The State Selective Service director today clarified the standing of student draft eligibles, asserting they will be processed for physical examinations in the same way as other registrants.

Col. Paul G. Armstrong, director, said students will be ordered for physical examination and will be examined in their proper order according to their Selective Service numbers and ages. If a student is found acceptable for service, he will be retained in Class 1-A, not in Class 1-B (postponed), as formerly.

When a call for induction is received by a local board, which would include the student, an order will be issued for the student to report for induction.

If the registrant's file contains a valid statement from the school which he is attending, that he is pursuing the required course of study, it is mandatory that the local board postpone induction of the student until the time specified under the selective service law.

This will be done by issuing a "postponement of induction" which will be mailed at the same time as the order to report for induction. Only after this postponement of induction form actually has been issued will the registrant be designated in Class 1-A (postponed).

Big Shake-Up On RFC Made By President

Washington, Aug. 10 — (AP) — President Truman has shaken up the top command of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC), multi-billion dollar lending agency that congress wouldn't let him make an adjunct of the Commerce Department.

Apparently tipping off almost no one in advance, Truman late yesterday dropped two members of the oft-criticized RFC board of directors, including Chairman Harley Hise, and named three new members to the five-man board.

Congressional Target

RFC has been the target of increasingly better congressional fire for such ventures as a $37,500,000 loan to the now bankrupt Lustron Corporation and for putting tax money into a Nevada hotel whose revenue comes largely from a gambling casino.

The president gave no explanation for his action, but a White House spokesman said Truman's idea was to "revitalize the board."

This is what the president did:

1. Dropped Chairman Hise, a Democrat, and Harley Gunderson, a Republican, from RFC's board.

2. Retained from the present board William E. Willert, a Democrat from Maryland, and Walter Lee Dunnham, a Republican from Michigan.

3. Named as new members C. Edward Rowe, a Massachusetts county court justice, a Democrat, Walter E. Cowgill, a Salt Lake City bank president, a Republican, and W. Elmer Harber, a bank president in Seneca and Shawnee, Okla., a Democrat.

Need Senate OK

One post on the five man board had been vacant since the resignation of Henry A. Mulligan several months ago.

Board appointees must be confirmed by the senate. The president did not name a chairman to succeed Hise.

BANNED BY BANK— Lauchlin Currie, former White House aide during President Roosevelt's administration, has been disqualified by the International Bank from taking part in loan discussions concerning the bank and the government of Colombia. Currie, who was once a consultant to the banking organization, had been hired by the Colombian commission seeking the loan.

Four Children Die As Truck Overtures

Mattawamkeag, Me., Aug. 10 — (AP) — A truck carrying 41 sleeping children home from a picnic went out of control, climbed a roadside embankment and turned over near here last night. Four of the children were killed, all but one of the others injured.

Two adults in the group from East Millbrook also were injured.

Korean War Dead To Be Buried Here

Washington, Aug. 10 — (AP) — Americans killed in the fighting in Korea are being brought back to the United States for burial in private or national cemeteries.

The remains of some men killed in action in Korea have already arrived in this country, an army spokesman said today. In each case the coffined bodies are being sent to the next of kin or to an address designated by the families.

During World War II, most American dead were given temporary burial near where they fell overseas. Later they were transferred to permanent U. S. cemeteries abroad or returned to this country for re-burial, according to the wishes of their families.

The army said it would make no general announcement from Washington of the arrival of U. S. dead from Korea. Such announcements are made at west coast ports after the families concerned have been notified.

Fire Destroys Newspaper. But It Publishes!

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Aug. 10 — (AP) — The Tuscaloosa Sun was destroyed as usual to subscribers today, 24 hours after its plant was destroyed in a $200,000 fire.

While editorial workers covered their usual runs here, the daily morning newspaper was printed in Birmingham 50 miles away.

International News Service copy was received through a Birmingham radio station.

E. E. Swalley, publisher, said he hoped to make arrangements to have the Sun printed at Jasper, Ala., or Columbus, Miss., until new mechanical facilities can be opened in Tuscaloosa.

A 48-page press and all other equipment was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin after the paper completed its final run early yesterday.

The Sun began publication about two months ago.

Polio Strikes Kable Family In Mt. Morris

Mt. Morris—Polio has stricken three members of the Justin Kable family. Gynda Sue, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Justin Kable, was the first Mt. Morris child to be stricken with bulbar polio and is now in the polio ward at St. Anthony's. Since her illness, her two sisters, have been stricken. Valerie Ann and Jessica. The Kable family reports that all three are recovering and that the illness has been detected in time.

Re-elected Editor

Paul Smith, one of Kable Printing Company's editors, was recently re-elected editor and manager of the Dixon Evening Telegraph.

Chosen on acclamation at the 11th annual convention of the Brotherhood for the sixth straight time, Smith has held that office since 1937. In addition to the honor, he is a member of the Grand Lodge of B. of L. E.

Prior to becoming editor, he was an engineer on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad. He has been a member of the union for 32 years.

Plan Meeting Place

The committee of troop 50, Mt. Morris, is planning to convert the east side of the basement of the Township hall into a meeting place for scouts and scouters.

Expenses are being underwritten by the sponsor, Mt. Morris Lodge 1551, Loyal Order of the Moose.

The committee is composed of John Tice, D. C. Findlay, Ross Miller, Frank Balluff, Charles Stead, Harold Ridenour, George Reeves and Pat Kellogg.

Church Convention

Several hundred members of the Christian Churches of Illinois are expected to gather in a convention to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the beginning of organized cooperative work. It will be at Jacksonville, Sept. 17-20, according to the Rev. William L. Harper, pastor of the local Christian church.

The Executive committee, of which the Rev. K. Everett Munson, pastor of the Christian church of Maywood and former pastor here, has determined upon a goal of 4,400 registrations. The local church plans to provide its quota in order to receive the honor of being a Centennial Club church.

Headquarters of the state organization are now located in Bloomington, with the Rev. Chester P. Hensley as state secretary. Hensley reports that Christian churches in Illinois now number 600, with a membership of more than 150,000.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Deuth, Polo, announced last week the engagement of their daughter, Carol Marie, to Robert K. Duncan, Mt. Morris, son of Mrs. Fred Duncan. The wedding is planned for fall in St. Mark's Lutheran church at Polo.

The engagement of Miss Carlene Mischler to Gerald G. Sanderson, Mt. Morris, has been announced by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Mischler, Zion.

Miss Mischler attended Zion-Benton high school and is a graduate of Stephens college, Missouri.

Sanderson is a graduate of the local high school and of Northwestern University and the son of Mrs. Edith Sanderson, Mt. Morris. Gerry is now employed with the Chicago Convention bureau. A late fall wedding is planned.

Here's Brother-Sister Hand-Me-Down Act

New York—A snap of the shoulders and a little ingenuity can transform "hand-me-downs" for children into garments which have both style and individuality.

One of the most common "hand-me-down" problems is that of changing a small boy's bulky suit into a dress for his sister. It's solved by first snipping off the roach tab, then cutting away excess fabric and finishing the hem. Since little girls like fitted waists a garter can be placed at each side with nylon elastic.

The clever touches can come from scrap-lag remnants which can be used to make a three-quarter apron, contrasting kick pleats with bolero to match, or a tiny peplum with matching cap sleeves.

One small dress made from such a suit (left) utilizes a remnant of gingham for added gores on each side of the skirt. Looks were made using the original buttonholes at the waist. The skirt and top were sewn together, making a one piece dress which got a gingham sash.

A second suit in plaid gingham (right) was given eyelet embroidery to trim suspenders and make-believe pockets, after the crotch tab was discarded and hem finished off.

House Argues Credit Limit With Controls

Washington, Aug. 10—(AP)—A bill giving President Truman discretionary control powers over wages, prices, rationing and credit was only a few short steps from house approval today.

Still to be settled before the bill goes to the senate, which starts debate on a similar measure today, is the extent of authority the president would have to curtail the granting of credit and to control commodity market speculation.

Would Limit Credit

Republicans and some southern Democrats want the credit powers limited to real estate credit and consumer credit, with business loans exempted. Yesterday they put through an amendment embodying their views by a tentative vote of 151 to 124, but administration forces believed they could reverse this on a roll-call vote. They want the credit controls to be extensive.

Republicans also have pending strongly-backed amendments to limit real estate credit curbs to the financing of new construction, and to deny to the president the power to control commodity market speculation. Most Democrats are against the GOP amendments.

Except for the extent of credit provisions still to be decided, the bill now follows the general lines of legislation the president has said he would accept, even though it gives him more power than he originally sought.

Is more controversial wage and price control provisions were approved overwhelmingly after Democrats and Republicans worked out a compromise to break a week-old house stalemate.

The president could:

1. Order rationing of almost anything at any time.
2. Channel scarce materials into essential field and order top priority for defense production.
3. Requisition for the government materials, supplies, equipment, or facilities needed for national defense. Owners would be entitled to just compensation and would have first choice on re-sale.

ing their property when the government no longer needs it.

4. Make loans, up to a total of $2,000,000,000, to spur production of needed things.

5. Put ceilings on wages and prices and adjust them from time to time as he saw fit.

Inflation Pressure Boosts Cotton, Wool Clothing Price

By SAM DAWSON
New York, Aug. 10. (AP) — Cotton and wool clothing both get another twist of the price screw today. Inflationary pressure has been strong in both for some time now. Still further price hikes appear in the making today.

Raw cotton and wool prices went up yesterday on the futures market. Cotton had a kick upward from the U. S. government estimate of a short crop this year. Wool tops and grease wool futures went to record highs for several reasons.

Prospects of a short wool crop in Australia, strong demand from New England wool mills, and expectations of an almost world-wide upturn in government buying of wool for uniforms. All of this is piled upon a world shortage of fine apparel wool which has been growing in the last year or more.

Trade sources are now estimating that in October when the ed for about one million bales more.

Cotton Mills Hunkering
Cotton mills have been hunkering recently, although they report the industry can increase output by another 15 per cent if military needs demand it.

Buyers of gray cloth the unfinished cloth as it comes from the mills responded to the crop report by rushing to get any goods they could find. Further price increases are widely expected, on top of hikes of as much as 30 per cent in some textiles since the war.

Wool Prices Up
Cotton yarn prices moved upwards, too. Spinners predict a general marking up of prices as a result of the crop report.

And over both the wool and cotton markets, at all levels from raw to finished fabrics, hangs the possibility of government controls soon.

Meanwhile, the costs of making dresses and suits, sheets and sweaters, all are going up. In a few weeks or months you may notice that in the price tags at the stores.

Soviet Union's Real Desire Is for Peace--For Herself!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie says he really thinks the Soviet Union wants peace.

Well, it's easy to believe that Russia wants peace (for herself)—that she doesn't want to get involved in a world war at this juncture. However, it takes a lot of credulousness to accept the idea that Moscow is frowning on the conflicts in Korea, in Indo-China, in Malaya and in numerous other places where Communism is struggling for control, though not directly involving the Soviet Union.

Developments in western Europe are likely to give us a better insight before long into the Kremlin's ideas.

Russia Prepared
Russia is much better prepared for war in Europe than are the western allies. With 170 divisions of troops and huge tank forces at her command, compared with maybe a dozen western divisions, she could sweep through to the English channel.

This far, however, Moscow hasn't given any indication that she is interested in such a roll of the dice.

There are several logical reasons, quite apart from Mr. Lie's thought that Russia really wants peace. One is that while Soviet Union is better prepared militarily than the democracies, the latter have greater potential strength both militarily and economically.

Then there is another aspect of this hypothetical situation which the Kremlin naturally hasn't overlooked. America's strength in atomic weapons, and her ability to produce them, presumably are unknown quantities abroad.

The Big Question
So Moscow must ask herself: Is the United States well enough equipped with atomic weapons to prevent a Russian army from consolidating its gains in western Europe? Moreover, what damage could be inflicted on Russia itself?

Those are questions which Russia would have to answer irrespective of what atomic weapons she herself has developed. Overrunning western Europe certainly wouldn't win a world war for Moscow.

Without questioning Russia's proven willingness to fight, it probably is true that under present circumstances she wants peace—for herself.

Mediterranean Trip Without Port of Call
Haifa, Israel. — (AP) — Israelis are going in for something new—Mediterranean cruises without any ports of call. Nearly 300 tourists left in the steamer "Ariza" recently for a five-day pleasure voyage, but the vessel did not put in at any foreign port.

The national treasury imposed the restriction to save foreign currency.

Almost every village in Tibet has a lama monastery, says the National Geographic Society.

DON'T BE A HOG—Down in Dallas, Tex., Roger Reynolds trots a live hog through downtown streets, while burdened with such items as tires, nylons, sugar, etc., that are much sought after by hoarders. To discourage "hogging" by hoarders, Reynolds and other Dallas Jaycees are using an extensive poster campaign sparked by the slogan—"Pigism ain't Americanism. Don't over-buy while Americans die."

Korea War Speeds Plans for Railroad Into Rich New Labrador Iron Ore Land

By JAMES MONTAGNES
NEA Special Correspondent

Toronto, Canada — (NEA) — A war in far-off Korea has hastened construction of a railroad into the Labrador wilderness. That's because the new rail line will lead into rich new iron ore country, badly needed for the production of war material.

Plans had called for starting construction on the railway next spring. But now it will be begun this year. Supplies for the big project are being rushed to Seven Islands, southern terminus of the line. Seven Islands is on the St. Lawrence river, frozen over during the winter. So the supplies are going by ship now, while they can. Later, equipment will be flown to Seven Islands.

Despite the speed-up of construction, the vital railway won't be finished until about mid-1952. When completed, it will extend for 360 miles northward from Seven Islands into the heart of the new iron range.

BASE CAMP for the Labrador iron ore fields in this lonely spot at Burnt Creek, Que., on the edge of the new range. This is the land the new railroad will have to cross.

Six U. S. Steel companies are helping to finance the development of the iron ore deposits. A tote road has already been built 60 miles north of Seven Islands. Another 40 miles of railway will cross difficult brush country. The remaining 260 miles will be easier, over the flat, rocky terrain to Knob Lake, site of the main ore deposits.

Plans call for 10 contractors to build the railway in sections and to complete the job in two years. Then it is expected that at least 10,000,000 tons of ore will be mined during the six-month season. Ore will be shipped by rail to Seven Islands, and from there by lake steamer to Cleveland or the Boston area steel mills.

Five big shovels are planned to take 70,000 tons of ore out of the ground a day, enough to load seven trains a day for Seven Islands. There, docking facilities are being built to handle up to 20,000,000 tons of ore a year.

The Labrador iron ore deposits have come to light only in recent years, but transportation has been the big stumbling block to their development. With the Minnesota fields running out of rich ore, the Labrador area has become important to American steel companies. Showings so far lead to the belief that the Labrador field is much bigger than the Mesabi range in Minnesota. The new fields cover an area of at least 225 miles by 60 miles as shown by the drilling operations of one company. Other Canadian-American syndicates are prospecting and drilling in the area as far north as Ungava Bay.

Seven Islands, which will be the new shipping center of the iron ore trade, is now a booming little trading settlement, which has so far existed from the lumbering and fur trades. Large Canadian banks have in recent months established branches there, as forerunners of the new Labrador boom.

CUSTOMERS' CORNER

These are salad days at A&P. Are the tomatoes ripe, but firm, as they should be? Is the lettuce crisp and sweet? Are all the other vegetables fresh, clean and appetizing? You'll be doing us a favor if you let us know any time you find any of our produce below par.

Takes a 60,000 Mile Trip Just to Visit Few Friends

JOE PRETSCH AND LADDIE (and the jeep) went for a trip to see some of Joe's Army buddies. In 25 months, they saw 200 of them. But there are still 30 left for next time.

By JACK P. GABRIEL

Blooming Glen, Pa.—After a long hitch in the Army, a guy gets homesick to see his old buddies. Homesick enough to spend 28 months on the road in a jeep.

Gunther (Joe) Pretsch, a 29-year-old ex-GI from Blooming Glen, didn't want to let his experiences fade into dim memories. He'd been with four separate organizations while in the service and had made a lot of friends. He also had rosters from each of those four units and the rosters contained the addresses of the men he'd served with. Joe decided to go on a little trip.

He didn't have too much cash, but he had a good jeep he'd bought in Paris. He converted a 4 by 8 foot Army trailer into something that would fit the requirements of travel with a bed stove and an ice box. It was wired for electricity and even had a water purification system.

Glen, didn't want to let his experiences fade into dim memories. He'd been with four separate organizations while in the service and had made a lot of friends. He also had rosters from each of those four units and the rosters contained the addresses of the men he'd served with. Joe decided to go on a little trip.

25 YEARS

Bronze Giant Swims 7,500 Miles in Lake

Chicago, Aug. 10—(AP)—If you ever see a big, bronzed fellow swimming far off the Chicago shore, chances are it will be William Lewis Gifford.

Gifford—now 35 and weighs 200 pounds—has been stroking through Lake Michigan's waters for 15 years. His season begins in April and ends in November.

The temperature of the water determines the length of his swim. He carries a thermometer around his waist. The warmer the water, the farther he goes. He figures he has swum 300 miles a year and now is well past the 7,500-mile mark. No one's got a card date for an English Channel crossing.

Carves Hobby, Trays Out of Rough Marble

Los Angeles, Aug. 10—(AP)—By day, Peter Zeoli's fingers fret over the rough surfaces of the wealthy. By night, the 52-year-old stone cutter polishes with a hobby-horse grinding stone.

His idea of resting to fetch his tools and chisel delicate designs on a rough slab of marble or lava. Handmade lastings, bookends and lamp stands are a specialty. His latest creation, a scale model of a C-47 transport plane, took him two months to complete.

Then those rough addresses in the rosters proved too tempting. Three months after he began the school term, Joe was on his way again. He finally saw 200 of the 250 on his list.

When he got back home, the jeep had taken him almost 60,000 miles at a cost of about $4,000, every cent earned.

"Major! I'll start out again pretty soon," he says.

After all, there are still those 30 buddies he didn't get to see. He may find them next time—unless they've gone to Korea.

Ogle Fair to Be Finest in Its History

Oregon—The 97th Ogle County Fair is expected to be the largest in the history of the annual event. Many repairs and improvements have been made at the Oregon fairgrounds and the selling of concession space is nearly completed. The Fair opens September 2 and closes the 4th.

The officers of the 97th Ogle County Fair are President James Dexter, Vice President Fred A. Loos, Secretary E. D. Landers and Treasurer Leo C. Ziegler.

These men have booked a variety of fire acts to entertain the public.

Among the entertainers will be the Flying La Vals who will perform on the trapeze. This act takes place 40 feet above the ground.

The Warren trio will do their headstand, tumbling and gymnastic act. Then there's the Two Vagabonds who are all set to amaze the crowd with a whirlwind trampoline act.

Trained Mule Stars
Will Steinfeld's trained mule "Rhumba" is another attraction at the Ogle Fair. The animal spent eight weeks at the Chicago Fair last season. "Stardust," an Arabian saddle horse, is a part of Steinfeld's act.

Sunday, September 3, the Boye-Witlock vaudeville show will present an eight-act stage production. Music will be furnished by the Wades.

A Western horse show is a feature of that evening's entertainment.

Circus Returns
Labor Day night brings the Wonder Brothers Circus. This outfit has appeared annually over the past five years here.

The afternoon programs of September 3 and 4 begin at 1 p. m. Night shows are scheduled at 8 p. m.

The Rochelle Municipal band will play at the Fair on both the 3rd and 4th.

Increase Premiums
Premiums for the various divisions of competition have been increased this year and a total of $17,925 may be awarded to entrants.

The premium list for individual departments is as follows:

Division I: Beef cattle, $1500; heavy horses, $500; sheep, $700; swine, $1500; junior livestock, $1500; rabbits, $700; agricultural products, $150; horticulture, $250; floriculture, $300; fine arts, $750; domestic arts, $750; education, $600; dairy, apiary, and culinary, $500; junior department other than livestock, $250; miscellaneous, $500; and premium ribbons, $175.

Division II: light horses, $500; harness races, $4500; and running races, $500.

Racing Schedule

The racing schedule is listed as follows:

Sept. 3: 2:24 trot (closed), $500; 2:18 pace, $600; and the 2:12 trot, $500.

Sept. 4: 2:24 pace (closed), $500; 2:12 pace, $500; and the 2:18 trot, $700.

M. E. Bacon, who has been the race starter for the past twenty years, has retired. Lee Henee of Anamosa, Iowa, will act as starter.

Plunges 150 Feet, But Only Gets Wet

San Pedro, Calif., Aug. 10 — (AP)—Fred Ferrell was strolling along a cliff-top at the edge of Pt. Fermin park, which faces the Pacific ocean. He slipped on a round stone and plunged over the sheer 150-foot drop, headed for water-washed, jagged rocks below.

He hit in water two feet deep between two boulders. A life guard pulled him out. At the receiving hospital doctors found only two small head cuts. They sent him home—to get out of those wet clothes.

REDS' FOE — John Myun (right), South Korean ambassador to the U. S., is expected to be the target of a Russian move in the United Nations Security Council. The U. S. S. R. will probably use its veto power to object to Chang's continued presence during the Council's discussions of Korean fighting.

Four-in-Hand Beauty for Milady's Neck

Attracted by distinctive patterns and materials of men's ties, women are transforming them this fall into scarves and costume accents. Wife (right), wearing a bow tie, converts her husband's worn four-in-hands to her own uses. She adjusts (upper left) the rosette choker that brightens her evening gown, and models (lower left) an opened-out long tie entwined with pearls to dress up her suit.

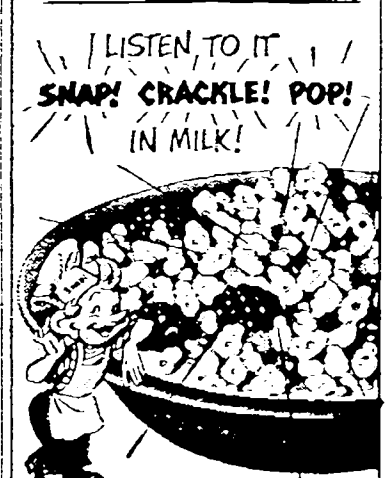

Ever on the alert to adapt male styles to their own uses, women will be raiding the tie rack this fall. Luxurious ascots and pert bow ties, long the object of envious feminine glances, will be sharing the limelight with the ordinary four-in-hand.

It's because of distinctive patterns and weaves that women are invading haberdasheries rather than depending upon dress goods counters to supply scarf fabrics. Another point in favor of this source of supply is the ease with which ties can be adapted. Since they are already lined and hemmed, it takes only a few stitches to complete the job.

Following the trend away from the nude look for bare shoulders is the rosette choker. The broad end of the tie is looped into a soft rosette which is dramatized by a scatter pin fastened at its center. The neckband is formed by the narrow part of the tie, which fits smoothly around the neck. Excess length is snipped off; a hook-and-eye is used for concealed fastening beneath the rosette.

To dress up a suit, ties in satin and other rich materials may be opened out and tied loosely at the neck. The fullness is gathered in not by the conventional knot but by an entwined necklace of pearls, jet or crystal. For variety, a large bright costume pin may be used to catch the folds together. Excess length in this version is eliminated by cutting

A softer, more feminine version of the ascot results when it is knotted with the long end extending many inches below the short end. The extra length is then doubled up until the ends are even again. A small pin holds the loops in place and adds a touch of dressiness.

For more tailored effects, a bow tie may be used. It is effective when tied in a simple knot at the throat of a high-necked dress or sweater. A plain choker is made by snipping off one end of a bow tie, bringing the band around the neck, and fastening the remaining tab into place with a scatter pin.

Cut-off tabs need not be wasted. Fastened to a breast pocket or to a belt, they add a colorful watch-fob accent to a suit or sports dress.

India Rations Grain To European Hotels

New Delhi, India, Aug. 10 — (AP)—No rice may be served in European hotels in India under a new code of food austerity drawn up by the ministry of food.

Hotels also must see that guests do not eat more than six ounces of rationed cereals a day. Party-givers will have to limit the number of guests to 24 if rationed foodstuffs are served and clubs may not have more than 20 guests at a subscription dinner. In the case of marriages or funerals, the number of guests who may be served rationed grains will be limited to 50.

The government hopes to achieve self-sufficiency in food next year.

1900 Mowing Machine Still Rolling Along

Middle Musquash, N. S., Aug. 10 — (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Cecil Fisk mowed the hay on his father's farm this season with a mowing machine that is 50 years old, bought by his great-grandfather for $50.

Why Girls Leave Home; It's Often the Fault of Parents

The average American parents just can't believe their baby daughters ever grow up. The result, says an article in the September issue of a national magazine, is that parents, with the very best of intentions, infringe on their children's personal dignity and privacy to the point where the offspring leave home to avoid being "smothered."

If you can't or don't want to leave home, says the article, but you wince at the thought of being a baby for the rest of your life, try to work out some sort of compromise with your family. The important thing is to know when to take a firm hand and when to give in gracefully.

Use The Phone

If you're out in the evening, alone or with another girl, and you discover you'll be later than you expected, telephone home to delay family anxieties. If parents want to come and get you, let them, counsels the article. Why plough home alone just to show your independence? If, however, it's a man you're out with, you don't put up with that "telephone-before-you-start-home" nonsense for a moment. You won't be out with a man again for some time if you do — at least not with that man.

If parents persist in their refusal to allow you to invite your date in, submit gracefully, pointing out that there are always bars and open-all-night joints you can visit. Insist on the right to choose your own friends, but do not force on the family people they dislike.

No Baby Talk

There are a few things, however, you must never compromise on, warns the writer.

Allow no baby-talk. It not only embarrasses the innocent bystander, it makes all participants sound as if they were ready for institutions.

Try to keep your parents from bragging about you. They're bound to do some, of course, but keep it down to the irreducible minimum.

Impress on the family that the men who come to see you are merely people. If they're on the wrong side, you're capable of handling the situation. If one is eligible husband material, you stand far more chance of hearing those wedding bells if he never suspects that the whole family regards him as a future member.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT
No. 50-123
Mabel Cushing, Plaintiff

vs.
Harry McGinnis, Oliver McGinnis, Blanche Holland, Ruth McGinnis, Josephine Metz, Louise Carlton, Harold McGinnis, George McGinnis, Ward McGinnis, Leigh McGinnis, Jean Logan, Maxine Brown, Harry McGinnis, Administrator de bonis non with the Will Annexed of the Estate of Mary B. McGinnis, deceased, Lee County, Soil Conservation District, School Trustees of Township Twenty-one North Range eight, East of the Fourth Principal Meridian and the Department of Works and Buildings of the State of Illinois, Defendants.

Affidavit of non-residence of Blanche Holland, Ruth McGinnis, Louise Carlton, Harold McGinnis and George McGinnis impleaded with the above defendants having been filed in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court of said County, notice is therefore hereby given to the said non-resident defendants that the plaintiff filed her complaint in said Court on the 25th day of July, A. D. 1950, and that thereupon a Summons issued out of said Court, wherein said suit is now pending, returnable on the first Monday in the month of September, A. D. 1950.

For the last three years this theater, however, has shown only foreign films.
Now the footlights are on again. The Ambassador, replete with memories, is expected to be ready for telecasting operations by September.

A special preview of the annual football game between the College All-Stars and the National Professional champions, the Philadelphia Eagles, will be broadcast tonight over MBS at 8. MBS will broadcast exclusively the grid game from Soldier Field tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. Harry Wisner and Harold "Red" Grange who will broadcast the play-by-play description of the game, will co-entice the preview show this evening.

Johnny Durante has been signed by NBC for television—and perhaps some radio shows, too. Durante will be one of the stars to be seen in a new, lavish one-hour show being planned for the NBC-TV network Wednesday nights from 7-8 p.m.

Dan Durryca, who usually plays the role of a tough, bad guy in the films, will portray a different kind of role tonight on the Hollywood Theatre over CBS at 9:30. Dan is cast as a monster just out of the logical school. He becomes involved in a bitterly contested zoning fight in "Wild Horse in the Town."

On the air tonight (Thursday), NBC 7:00 John Barrymore and Shakespeare, 7:30 Advance Release, 8:30 Duffy's Tavern, 9:30 Big Parade, CBS 6:00 Garry Moore Show, 7:00 The Lineup, 7:30 Mr. Kven, Tracer of Lost Persons, 8:00 Somewhere Knows, 8:30 Crime Photographer, 9:00 Yours Truly, Johnny Dollar, ABC—7:00 Casebook of Gregory Hood, 7:30 Inner Sanctum, 8:00 Amateur Hour, 9:30 Red Maupin MBS—6:30 Gabriel Heatter, 7:30 Mr. Feathers, 8:00 Reporters Round-up, 9:30 Johnny Singers Orchestra.

Television (daylight—standard one hour earlier): NBC—6:00 Ransom Sherman Show, 7:00 Believe it or Not, 8:00 The Star Revue (Jack Haley), 9:00 Quick on the Draw, 9:30 Trotting Races, CBS—6:45 Three's Company, 8:00 The Show Goes On (Robert Q. Johnny Durante has been signed by NBC for television—and perhaps some radio shows, too. Durante will be one of the stars to be seen in a new, lavish one-hour show being planned for the NBC-TV network Wednesday nights from 7-8 p.m.

Dan Durryca, who usually plays the role of a tough, bad guy in the films, will portray a different kind of role tonight on the Hollywood Theatre over CBS at 9:30. Dan is cast as a monster just out of the logical school. He becomes involved in a bitterly contested zoning fight in "Wild Horse in the Town."

New York, Aug. 10. (AP)—The ambassador theater in New York city has entered a new era in its star-studded history in show business.
The Dumont television network has signed a five year lease for this theater and is remodeling it as a television studio.
Since Feb. 11, 1921 the Ambassador had been a legitimate theater—one of Broadway's top notches. Such star performers as Walter Pidgeon, Florence Eldridge, Fay Bainter, Lionel Atwell, Edward G. Robinson, Ina Claire and Charles Ruggles appeared behind the footlights.
For the last three years this theater, however, has shown only foreign films.

Now the footlights are on again. The Ambassador, replete with memories, is expected to be ready for telecasting operations by September.

HAPPINESS TOURS—39 S. STATE ST. CHICAGO 5

(Editor's Note: This is the second of two columns comparing the fighting habits of American and North Korean soldiers.)

By HAL BOYLE

With U. S. Troops in Korea (AP) One of the tragedies of the Korean war is that America has been able to supply its outnumbered troops with many of the comforts of home but as yet hasn't delivered enough men or tools to win victory.

They are on the way—but many an American frontline doughboy unit would gladly give up its occasional ration of beer for a few more fresh soldiers or slugging Patton tanks.

The fact there are stacks of tooth brushes and razor blades here but very few modern tanks shows two things about the American soldier and the nation behind him.

1. The soldier likes the comforts and conveniences to peace in wartime so far as they are possible, and his country likes to give them to him.

2. The United States has been in a better position to make its candy bars in mass production. Tanks haven't been mass-produced.

The enemy has gambled on guns and rice rather than on chewing gum and hair tonic. And it is men, guns and rice they have.

"We should have insisted that both sides fight this war with tubes of brush-less shaving cream, belabored one American tankman. Then we could have smothered them from the start. It would take them years to catch up with the edge we got in shaving cream."

This war situation points up the major difference between GI Joe and the North Korean fighting man. The American fights on a tradition he will have plenty of everything. The North Korean doesn't.

The North Korean can grab up a few balls of rice, his gun and a couple of ammunition bandoliers, and take off through the hills and no soldiering for days.

The U. S. soldier prefers to put his faith in massed steel and a gigantic breakthrough. He has borrowed the German blitzkrieg principle but he is trying to make it work in a country of ox-cart paths and without enough of the right kind of armor to punch through.

GI's Road Bound?

Some officers think our army has become "road bound" and soft. Personally I agree more with another officer who said:

"It isn't a matter of being road-bound at all. When we do have the infantry we need here they will go up into the mountains and comb out the Reds at the same time we bust through on the roads."

We have done it before. There were hills in Tunisia, Sicily, Italy, France, Belgium, Okinawa. We went through them to victory—and we will again. But it is hard now for those who hold and want the help they need.
